Passenger Collides With Carnival Special at Columbus, Ga.

EIGHTEEN ARE MISSING

Bodies of Some of the Missing
Are Thought to Be Under Overturned Show Cars

MORE THAN THIRTY INJURED

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 22.—Seven persons are known to have been killed, eighteen others are missing and more than thirty were injured as a result of a head-on collision six miles west of here late today between Central of Georgia passenger Train No. 2, and a special train of 25 cars carrying the Con. T. Kennedy Carnival company.

Dead May Reach Twenty-Four.
Con. T. Kennedy, proprietor of the company, said late tonight he believed the list of dead would reach twenty-four and "possibly more."

It would be tomorrow, he said, before the list could be checked up. No more bodies had been recovered late tonight.

It was stated here that there were approximately four hundred people on the carnival train including performers, travelers, their families and various attendants of the carnival company.

Twelve Cars are Destroyed.
The bodies of some of the missing are thought to be under overturned cars of the show train. Twelve of the carnival company's cars were reported destroyed by fire and others still were burning tonight.

The collision occurred on a straight stretch of track, the passenger train being enroute from Birmingham to Macon and the show special from Atlanta to Phoenix City, Ala.

A misunderstanding of orders is said to have been responsible.

Engines of both trains were demolished. The passenger train carried three steel coaches, all of which escaped serious damage. The cars of the carnival train, however, piled up on the engines and immediately caught fire. The chief performers of the carnival company rode in twelve coaches which made up the rear end of their train and none of them suffered more than bruises.

Two are Burned to Death.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Kempf and their young daughter, Hazel, were in one of the cars near the front of the train. When the car caught fire the woman tossed her daughter out of a window, the child escaping with cuts and bruises. Mrs. Kempf and her husband were burned to death in the wreckage. Two cars carrying trained animals were destroyed. It was said tonight none of the animals except some horses and dogs escaped. There were about sixty people attached to the carnival company, which had been exhibiting in Atlanta during the past week.

FEDERATION REFUSES TO ENDORSE LEGISLATION

GOMPERS SETTLES ARGUMENT IN AN IMPASSIONED SPEECH

Declares He Will Not Trust the Fate of Labor to Politics—Says Socialists Made First Attempts to Obtain Eight-Hour Law.

San Francisco, Nov. 22.—The American Federation of Labor after a contest waged on the floor of the convention here for four hours refused by a close vote tonight to endorse state and federal legislation for the eight-hour day. President Samuel Gompers settled the argument in an impassioned speech in which he declared that the Socialist party was behind the movement to force the federation to endorse the proposed eight-hour day legislation.

"It was the Socialist party that made the first attempt to obtain the eight-hour law by legislation," declared President Gompers. "I challenge any Socialist on this floor to say the Socialist party will stand behind the federation in securing eight-hour laws."

"If some of you want it, you can't force it down the throats of the rest of us. I know what the enemies of labor are made up of," he added. "Power is gravitating from the ballot box to the industrial field. That gravitation will go on. I won't trust the fate of labor to politics. I want congress to guard only our freedom to fight out on an economic basis our battles for freedom to achieve. I want the travail of sacrifice and the tears of our women, if necessary, upon which, to build labor's economic freedom."

He said what legislation gave, it could take away.

A WORTHY OCTOGENARIAN.

The Venerable Robert Diggs of Concord Visits the City.

A visitor in the city Monday was the venerable Robert Diggs of Concord, who was accompanied by his nurse, as he is very lame and deaf. Mr. Diggs was born in the largest city in the world, London, June 10, 1835, and at the age of 18 decided to leave the land that gave him birth and seek his fortune on American soil. It was hard to break the ties that had bound him since childhood, but he felt it was for his welfare to do so, and accordingly set sail, landing in Nova Scotia, where he remained three years, and then came to the northwest part. There he married Mary J. Eagle, and they were the parents of nine children, six of whom, and their mother, have passed away. There remains William, residing near Concord; Mrs. Crouse, living in Concord, and Miss Ida, at home. Mr. Diggs enjoys very good health, though his lameness and difficulty in hearing make him somewhat dependent, and his dutiful daughter, Miss Ida, and a lady especially employed as his nurse, enable him to enjoy life as well as possible under the circumstances. He was pleased to visit the city yesterday and to meet the writer, whom he has known for a good many years. Mr. Diggs bids fair to be with his dear ones for a good while to come.

EACH ITEM IN CALL MAY BE CONSIDERED

Republican Steering Committees of House and Senate Reach Decision

TAKE NO DEFINITE ACTION

More Than a Score of Bills
Are Introduced in Each
House Monday Night

WOULD REPEAL PRIMARY BILL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 22.—An understanding that each item in Governor Dunne's proclamation calling a special session would be considered and that appropriation legislation should be given the right of way, was reached late tonight at a meeting of the Republican steering committee of the house and senate. However, no definite action was taken. This was taken to mean that some action may be taken on the primary act.

Introduce Score of Bills.
The special session of the legislature, called by Governor Dunne to re-enact appropriations invalidated by the supreme court's decision on the Fergus suit, met today and got down to business. More than a score of bills were introduced in each house tonight.

Among the bills introduced was one by Representative C. A. Purdum of Clark county, providing for the repeal of the primary election law, which Governor Dunne called to the attention of the law-makers for revision.

In the senate, a resolution was offered tonight by Senator Swanson (Republican) providing that last winter's senate payroll of about fifty employees be cut to five. The resolution failed of adoption by a vote of 17 to 0, none of the Democrats voting.

To Submit Payroll to Lucey.

Lieutenant Governor O'Hara announced that he would submit the payroll to the attorney-general to decide whether last winter's employees could hold over for the special session. He made the point that as the statutes provide for certain employees, these employees could not be dispensed with by resolution, taking as his precedent the decision in the Fergus case. Sentiment among the law-makers tonight seemed to be crystallized in favor of a short session with no politics.

The house Republicans said they may petition Governor Dunne to call another special session immediately for the purpose of creating by statute an efficiency and economy commission, similar to the one created by resolution by the legislature last winter and three years ago. The supreme court's decision on the Fergus case invalidated commissions created by resolution. Some of the downstate Republicans also wanted to petition Governor Dunne to call another special session to appropriate approximately $600,000 to pay farmers additional damages because of the foot and mouth epidemic among livestock. It was reported that this amount of damages had accumulated since the adjournment of the last regular session and that the farmers are demanding their money.

No Fund for Mileage.

When the law-makers arrived at the state house today State Treasurer Russell explained that there was no fund out of which to pay the members the customary mileage allowance. Under the constitution, assemblymen are entitled to 10 cents per mile for one round trip each session between their homes and the state capital. Republican leaders today ridiculed any talk of a move by some downstate Republicans to oust Speaker Shanahan as their leader. They said there was no criticism of the speakers' work.

FEAR KEPT WIDOW SILENT

BATAVIA, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Luigi Matroni was buried alive in the cellar of his home near Corfu in May, 1914, his body being trampled into a newly made grave while he begged for mercy, according to a story told by his widow to District Attorney Coon here today. This afternoon Anton Boliva, the alleged murderer, pointed out the spot where the crime occurred and a body was found which Mrs. Matroni identified as that of her husband. Boliva has confessed, the district attorney said.

Boliva, who is Mrs. Matroni's son-in-law, is serving a six months term in the Monroe county penitentiary for a stabbing affray. Her long silence Mrs. Matroni said was due to Boliva, who had threatened a similar fate for her and her son. When she learned he was in prison she felt safe to tell.

Mrs. Matroni said her husband was felled by a blow from a pick-axe handle. He was knocked unconscious but revived before the grave had been dug in the cellar. He pleaded with Boliva for mercy just before he was thrown into the pit in which he was buried while still alive.

After hearing the woman's story, District Attorney Coon and Sheriff Edgerton took Boliva to the farm where the Matroni family formerly lived. Boliva at first denied knowledge of the murder but later District Attorney Coon said he confessed and told the men where to dig. They found the body under nine feet of earth, the house having been torn down and the cellar filled in.

TO PROBE PROPOSED TELEPHONE MERGER

CHICAGO CITY COUNCIL NAMES
COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE

Rumors State Proposed Sale of Automatic Company to Bell Company is Being Made Basis of Bond
Jobbing Operations.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—The city council tonight voted to investigate rumors that the proposed sale of the Automatic Telephone company to the Bell company of Chicago was being made the basis of bond-jobbing operations. A committee was directed to obtain a statement of all transfers of bonds since July 2, 1913, and to impound, bind and place them in the hands of the city treasurer pending final action on the ordinance which is required before the sale can be made.

The automatic company started several years ago, a rival to the Bell company, but was unable to live up to the requirements of the ordinance under which it was granted a franchise. Its absorption by the older company recently has seemed the only way out of the difficulty. Recent appreciation of the bonds of the automatic gave rise to the rumors.

Alderman Merriam, who asked for the investigation, said, in speaking of his motion:

"It is proposed to sell the automatic property, valued by an expert engineer at $1,000,000, for $6,300,000."

"The question arises, what is the $5,000,000 margin for? Is it to get rid of the automatic 'phone to eliminate competition or to acquire certain patents?"

The president of the Chicago Telephone company testified that he didn't know of the contract until it had been made.

"Bonds of this company which sold last summer at 9, have advanced to 70. This takes place before the city council has passed the merger ordinance or the committee even recommended the passage of one. Nevertheless, rumors are thick that the whole question has been settled. If so, who has settled it? Who has guaranteed the passage of the ordinance and caused the advance of the bonds from 9 to 70? Are the bonds in the hands of original purchasers or have they been transferred actually or in anticipation? Who will receive the difference between the value and the purchase price?"

HAVE NO DEFINITE NEWS FROM GREECE

Solution of the Whole
Difficulty is Expected
Soon

BLOCKADE HAS BEGUN

One Athens Despatch Says
Cabinet Objects Only to Proposal to Enter the War

PRESSURE ON ROUMANIA

LONDON, Nov. 22.—No definite news has been received here of Greece's reply to the entente allies' demands for guarantees for the safety of the Anglo-French forces landed at Saloniki, or for that of the Serbians who might be forced over the Greek frontier. One despatch from Athens, however, says the Greek cabinet is disposed to accept the conditions laid down by the entente powers, except the condition requiring Greece to participate in the war and that the solution of the whole difficulty may be expected immediately.

Serbian Win Victory.
Meanwhile the blockade of Greek commerce has commenced and Italy, it is reported, is participating in the measures of restraint decided upon. This, with the news that the Serbians had won a victory over the Bulgarians northeast of Pristina, that the Bulgarians have delayed their march on Monastir and that the Austro-Germans are laboring under difficulties as a result of the wintry weather has created a more hopeful feeling in the capitals of the entente allies.

The British and French forces daily are being strengthened by men and guns, landed at Saloniki and part of the reinforcements is being sent to Monastir, where the Serbians also are reported to be concentrating and threatening the Bulgarians at Prilep.

Bring Pressure on Roumania.

Roumania finds herself in much the same position as Greece, with both the entente allies and the central powers bringing pressure to bear upon her. The Germans, it is said, are asking Roumania to give assurances of her continued neutrality, and also are offering her concessions if she intervenes in the war on the side of the Teutonic allies.

With a big Russian army in Bessarabia, however, it is considered unlikely that Roumania will accept the second alternative. On the whole it is expected that the attitude of the Entente powers toward Greece will clear the Balkan situation before very long.

Italians Strengthen Positions.

The Italians by their continued offensive, are strengthening their positions around Gorizia, which, it is believed cannot hold out much longer.

On the western front the British and French artillery has become more active in Flanders and Champagne, which on previous occasions has been the signal for offensive movements.

The Russians, since they regained the ground they lost on the river Styra have been inactive except for minor attacks in the Dvinsk region.

Another flotilla of British submarines is reported to have arrived in the Baltic.

CHINA NEEDS MONEY.

Story won his case because the town had no ordinance which would allow the collection of the poll tax and when the statute was understood Attorney Wilson dismissed the case. Recently an audit committee has been working on the books of the city of Monmouth, with special reference to school funds. The books have not been gone over for twenty years and illegal uses of funds are being hinted by those pushing the matter. The members of the school board have refused to discuss the situation and the citizens are anxiously awaiting the results of the auditing.

There is an old saying that its an ill wind that blows nobody good. This is true of King Alphonso, of Spain, who has very cleverly avoided mixing in the big European war and has managed to bring to Spain an era of prosperity such as the country has not known for a century. The dyeing manufactures of that land have been revived as by magic. Heretofore England, France, and Russia scorned the idea of purchasing commodities from Spain, now they are glad of the opportunity. Throught the bitter conflict the people are keeping a steady nerve and the young King appears to be taking good advantage of his opportunities.

At a recent student council meeting of Wesleyan university the members decided to adopt the point system, which has proved so satisfactory in other institutions. By the point system is meant that any student holding an office of editor of a school publication, president of a class or society, captain of an athletic team or any office which requires a certain amount of time and attention in the school, will be rewarded by having points or credits added to his list. By this method positions will mean more and will lessen the burden on some of the students, who have been loaded with honorary positions. The point system has been adopted in Illinois college in one department, that of certain members of the Rambler Board.

As the winter approaches a number of citizens are fixing up their sleeping porches for the season and expect to obtain the healthful results as in the past. A few insist in sleeping out-of-doors and the followings good advice is given in the December Outing on the subject. On cold nights the camper sleeps in fresh underwear and socks, trousers, sweater, Mackinaw, German points or crockasins. (It is no hardship then, to get up and replenish the fire.) With the half-axe a regular back log fire can be built and plenty of night wood laid in. Don't use wood that snaps and shoots out embers. If a snowfall is anticipated, cover the tent frame with evergreen boughs and thatch with browse, (evergreen twigs). This will also effective screen the tent from sparks. Then build the fire as close to the tent as safety permits. If you know how to manage one it may be within four feet.

TOO MANY CHURCHES

In Pumpkinville the fourteen churches have no support that's strong and stout; and all the time village searches its clothes for coins to help them out. The pastors go upon their uppers, they are hungry-looking men and lean, as they arrange for chicken suppers, to pay for coal and kerosene. They can't put much into a sermon, not much of eloquence or vim, with each so poor he can't determine just when the poor farm will get him. The churchyards all are rank and weedy, for none will pay to mow the grass; the churches all look frayed and seedy, they're needing paint and window glass. In Pumpkinville one church might flourish, and be a prosperous concern, and there'd be wealth its work to nourish, while yet the lamp holds out to burn. And it could hire a pair of dingers of clergymen, in turn to preach, and can the bunch of hayseed singers, engaging some who've learned to screech. But Pumpkinville has fourteen churches, and each is poorer than the rest, and evermore the village searches for pennies for them, in its vest.

matics has no monopoly of figures that far exceed the outstretch of the human mind, says the Philadelphia Ledger. He finds that there are 13,000,000 men under arms, and that more than 2,000,000 have been killed, with 4,000,000 wounded and 2,000,000 missing. The war is now costing nearly $50,000,000 a day which will bring the total to $27,000,000,000 by January 1, 1916; and of this enormous sum, three-fourths will have been borrowed. The number of men, on both sides, taken together, in the Civil war, never reached more than a tenth of the embattled total in Europe today. The worst of it is that numbers tell so small a portion of the story. They indicate the immediate losses, but not the impoverishment of future ages and the denial of their birthright to the generations that are to come.

MORTUARY

Trainer.

William Trainer died at the county farm, where he had been employed for several months, Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Deceased was about 50 years of age and had been a resident of this city practically all his life. He had been in failing health for several months and his death was not unexpected. He is survived by one brother, James Trainer, of Freeport, and two half brothers, Harry E. Frye, and Herbert Frye both of this city. The remains were taken to the undertaking establishment of W. W. Gillham. The time of the funeral will be announced later.

Erickson.

Gilbert Erickson, a long-time resident of Jacksonville, died at Passavant hospital Monday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Mr. Erickson had been an invalid for seventeen years and death was the result of a general breakdown. Mr. Erickson was born in Skeen, Norway, Dec. 20, 1832. He came to this country in 1870 and came directly to this city, which has since been his home. He was united in marriage here to Miss Ida Johnson Sept. 10, 1871. To this union three children were born, two sons and one daughter. One son and one daughter preceded him in death. His widow and one son survive. Mr. Erickson was a tailor by trade and a skilled workman. He worked for all of the old-time tailors and was for many years in the employ of George H. Huntoon. He has been unable to work at his trade for the past sixteen years. He was a member of the Lutheran church and also a member of Urania Lodge 243, I. O. O. F., having joined that lodge in July, 1875.

Funeral services will be held from the undertaking establishment of Williamson & Cody Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, in charge of Urania lodge. Friends of the family are invited to attend the services.

Davenport.

Mrs. Elizabeth Camm Davenport died at the family home, 302 East Michigan avenue Monday morning at 6:15 o'clock. She had been ill of heart trouble for nearly two years and this brought on pneumonia which caused death. Deceased was the daughter of Samuel and Jane Camm and was born near Winchester in Scott county, Dec. 26, 1842. When six years of age the family moved to this county and resided on a farm near Jacksonville.

Her father died in 1887 and with her stepmother and brother she removed to Rogers, Ark., where she remained 11 years. During this time she nursed her stepmother and brother during their last illness. When she returned to Illinois she made her home with her sister, Mrs. Iven Wood of Pisgah. In 1900 she was united in marriage to James H. Davenport and they have since lived in and near Jacksonville.

Mrs. Davenport was converted early in life and since her residence in Jacksonville has been a member of First Baptist church. She ever lived so that Heaven was brought to those with whom she came in contact. Her life was always one of unselfishness and she loved to be doing something for those around her. During all her suffering she revealed the true Christian spirit and when the summons came she was ready to meet her King. There survives one sister, Mrs. Iven Wood of Pisgah.

Brief services will be held from the residence Wednesday morning at 11:30 o'clock. The remains will then be taken to the Union Baptist church at Pisgah where more extended services will be held and interment will be made. Both of the services will be in charge of the Rev. Percy W. Stephens, pastor of First Baptist church.

PLANS TO TAKE ACID; SHOTS SELF TWICE

ALBERT J. COX NEAR DEATH AT OUR SAVIOR'S HOSPITAL.

Tragedy at Home of W. T. Pierman, West Lafayette Avenue, Monday Afternoon Follows Disappointment and Season of Bad Health—Leaves Note in Explanation.

Albert J. Cox is near death at Our Savior's hospital as a result of a tragedy which took place Monday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock at the residence of W. T. Pierman, West Lafayette avenue. At an early hour this morning he continued to live, tho very low.

The despondent young man planned to take his life by drinking carbolic acid, but evidently changing his mind at the last moment, chose a revolver instead and shot himself in two places, one bullet passing thru the pit of the abdomen and another entering the forehead an inch above the right eye. From the letter found beneath the young man's body, it would seem that disappointment in a love affair was the primary cause of the deed, tho continued bad health is thought to have been an underlying reason.

The letter to Mr. Pierman bore the date of Sunday, the 21st, and was written evidently from Beardstown, with the intention of mailing. The stationery used was that of a Beardstown hotel. Following is the message, written in pencil:

The Last Message.
"I am taking my life by drinking poison. I shot it in Bushnell, Ill. I came into Bushnell Friday night and hid all night at George Adams' house. I left Saturday night and came on to Beardstown and thru Chapin into Jacksonville. If you see Mrs. George Adams at 126 Kille street, Bushnell, she will tell you why I took my life for I wrote a letter from Bushnell Saturday and another from Beardstown Sunday. You will find my brother one and one half miles west of Martinon working on a farm of Carol Orman. You will find the reason why I took my life in the letter to Mrs. Adams. I know I am ill but that is not the reason. Tell my brother to draw my pay from Robert Runnels and also give him my watch."

On arriving from Chapin Monday by the early Washash train, Cox complained of his rheumatic pains and was advised by Mr. Pierman to obtain medicine. When the latter left for the business district, the young man replied to a query that he was "not going just yet," and lay down as if for a nap upon the couch in the parlor. The deed was committed in a room opening on the parlor from the north.

Was Alone in House.
No one saw the attempt of young Cox to commit suicide as Mrs. Pierman about the hour of three left the young man lying on the couch and went to the residence of a neighbor. Mr. Pierman had gone to town and it was not until he was within a block or two of his home that he was notified of the tragedy. A call for aid was sent at once and Dr. F. A. Norris and Dr. E. D. Canatsey responded. Shortly after committing the deed young Cox became delirious but soon after arriving at Our Savior's hospital, lapsed into profound stupor.

The shots were fired by a thirty-two calibre revolver which was found a short distance from the victim. A half-emptied bottle of carbolic acid together with a spoon, told the story of courage which failed at this mode of death and chose an "easier way."

Twenty-two years of age and of rugged build, young Cox seemed to be of more than average health and vigor, until about eighteen months ago when he suffered an acute appendicitis attack and underwent operation. Thru a good portion of the corn shucking season this year he was at work on a farm near Orleans. Complaining of the rheumatism pains he was forced to quit work but in a short time went to Martinon, Ill., where his brother, John W. Cox, had before been engaged in farm work. Finding himself still unable to do the work properly he set out for Jacksonville and Monday morning arrived at the home of Mr. Pierman, with whom he made his home for nine years and at whose house he had since visited. At the death of his wife, Wesley Cox left his son, Albert, with Mr. and Mrs. Pierman to rear, and though no formal adoption was ever made, the young man made his home with them from his tenth to his nineteenth year.

FUNERALS

Whitmer.

Funeral services for the late Edward Whitmer were held from the residence of Mrs. J. W. Harney, 202 North Prairie street, Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The Rev. A. B. Morey, former pastor of the deceased, was in charge. The services were brief. Miss Allie Goodrick sang at the beginning of the service and at the close.

Dr. Morey read a number of passages of Scripture and then briefly paid a beautiful tribute to the memory of Mr. Whitmer. Mr. Morey said in part:

"None of us know what death is. None of us will ever know until it comes our time to face it. What we call death, God calls life."

"A loss such as this severs tender and loving ties and it brings great grief to both family and friends. But God tells us that death is only the making of greater and better ties."

"The burdens of life bear down heavily, but some day the cords are cut. To we lay this brother in the earth, his work will live after him. The thought that should comfort us today is that his is only the beginning of a better and greater life." Dr. Morey then offered a prayer.

There were many beautiful floral offerings and these were cared for by Misses Helen Leck, Ethel Stewart, Ethel Sackman, Irene Cox and Helen Strawn. They were assisted by Homer, Howard, Everett and Myrell Reynolds, nephews of the deceased.

The members of the Masons and Elks attended the services in a body. At the grave the beautiful funeral service of the Masons was given.

Interment was in Jacksonville cemetery. The bearers were: F. L. Sharpe, William Hoffman, W. H. Cobb, Lee P. Alcott, Thomas Heaton and George W. Davis.

MATRIMONIAL

Hebel-Walker.

Harry W. Hebel and Miss Ruby Walker were married Sunday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock by the Rev. Percy W. Stephens at the pastoral residence on Diamond court. The young people were attended by Miss Ida M. Platt and John Garvey, both operators at the Wabash. Some speculation was caused by friends of the couple by the fact that Mr. Hebel, who is a Wabash freight conductor, procured the license some six weeks ago. All attempts at guessing the time of the ceremony were of no avail and the announcement of the wedding Sunday did not come without surprise.

The groom was reared in Hannibal and for several years has been in the employ of the Wabash railroad. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hebel and has lately made his home in Springfield, where with his wife he will continue to reside.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Alice Walker, 535 West Lafayette avenue, and for about four years has been employed at the Ballard-Johnson lunch room at the Wabash station. She is a young woman of worth and industry, well deserving of the many wishes she will receive for a wedded life of happiness.

On account of the illness of Judge Jones there was no session of the circuit court Monday. It is expected that court will be held this morning.

MONMOUTH WANTS POST-SEASON GAME

NORTHERN COLLEGE THROWS
AWAY OPPORTUNITY GIVEN FOR CONTEST.

Coach Harmon Declares Monmouth Knows She Has Dropped State Championship Title and Seeks to Retain Prestige—Illinois Men Broke Training Saturday and Curtain Has Dropped for Season.

Coach W. T. Harmon was taken completely by surprise yesterday afternoon when he received the following telegram from Coach H. K. Ghorneley of Monmouth College.

Monmouth, Nov. 22.

Coach W. T. Harmon: Monmouth College challenges Illinois college for a post season football game to be played any time after November twenty-sixth on any field you name.

Coach H. K. Ghorneley.

Illinois College will not accept the counter-challenge, for such it is, for very good reasons. Monmouth was offered an opportunity to play Illinois for the state championship on Thanksgiving Day but they declined to play unless the game was played at Monmouth. Since then Monmouth has played Lombard, a team which Illinois defeated by 14 to 7, and the best Monmouth could do was to play a scoreless game in which Lombard clearly outplayed Monmouth. In speaking of the game the Galesburg Republican Register states: "In the last period Lombard had the ball within Monmouth's 25 yard line most of the time."

Having exhausted every possibility of securing a home game on Thanksgiving Day, the Illinois team finished its season last Saturday and after smothering Carthage under an avalanche of touchdowns, the men laid away their football togs and broke training. Two days later Monmouth asks for a game which she might have had for the asking. Instead she chose to attempt to dictate where the game should be played. Now with everything to gain and nothing to lose Monmouth very generously offers to play any where, clearly showing that she is over-anxious for an opportunity to regain prestige lost at the hands of Lombard.

On Nov. 2, three days before the Millikin-Illinois game and four days before the Monmouth-Lake Forest game, Coach Harmon sent the following night letter to Monmouth:

Nov. 2, 1915

Coach Ghorneley: If Monmouth defeats Lake Forest and Illinois defeats Millikin, Illinois challenges Monmouth for state championship in game at Jacksonville on Thanksgiving Day. Terms to be arranged.

W. T. Harmon.

To this message Monmouth replied as follows:

"We must have game at Monmouth, cannot play away from home on Thanksgiving day. Will gladly accept your challenge with game to be played here."

By some sort of strange procedure, Monmouth seemed to feel that Illinois College was under obligation to fill the place left vacant when Knox college cancelled her schedule and left Monmouth without a Thanksgiving game. In other words she seemed to regard the settling of the state championship as a matter of minor importance when compared to the success of her Home Coming.

Over the telephone Coach Harmon declined to take his team to Monmouth under any consideration, feeling that Monmouth, by virtue of having defeated one Illinois team—Lake Forest—was not exactly in a position to dictate where the championship game should be played.

In a letter dated Nov. 11, Coach Ghorneley wrote Coach Harmon as follows: "It is out of the question for us to play at Jacksonville on Thanksgiving Day. We feel that the game with Illinois College would be the best game we could get here, and will hold the date open until Saturday noon. If we do not hear from you by that time we will consider another college for the date. That is our annual Home Coming and we want the best game we can get and must close a game within a few days."

Just at this time prospects seemed bright to arrange a Thanksgiving Day game on the local field with Southern Normal and negotiations with Monmouth were considered closed, especially as Monmouth scheduled a Thanksgiving game with Ripon College of Wisconsin. Then came the Lombard-Monmouth game in which Monmouth was held to a scoreless tie and outplayed, thereby losing what little claim she possessed for a state championship. That game was played last Friday. Three days later comes a would-be challenge asking for a "post-season game." It will be noted in the above telegram that Monmouth does not ask for a game to decide the state championship. It seems that she is merely asking for an opportunity to regain lost laurels. Monmouth is no longer a contender for the state championship. Why should the Illinois men, who have disbanded and broken training be reorganized and kept practicing for two more weeks in order to play a team which has no more claim upon the state championship than has Lombard—that is to say—none at all. Perhaps Monmouth can answer.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR

W. T. PRICE OF VIRGINIA

Friends Gather at His Home and Help Celebrate His 75th Anniversary—Gave Valiant Service in the Civil War.

Saturday marked the 75th milestone in the life of William T. Price, now of Virginia, but formerly of this county so his estimable wife, formerly Miss Jennie Marshall of West College street, Jacksonville, decided the event should be duly celebrated and accordingly the deacons and minister of the Presbyterian church, of which he and his wife are faithful members, and some other friends were invited to a sumptuous six o'clock dinner and the event was fully enjoyed by every one.

Mr. Price has had a remarkable career and a record of which he has good reason to be proud. As a citizen and a civilian he has ever borne an unblemished reputation, succeeding well in the goods of this world and making for himself a home in the better land at the same time by a correct life.

Aug. 15th, 1862 he enlisted in Co. D, 114th Ill. Infantry and saw plenty of hard service. The regiment was mustered in at Camp Butler and the first few months of its service did duty in various parts of Tennessee. In the battle of Jackson, Miss., in May, 1863, the regiment saw some lively fighting and lost several men. It also participated in the memorable siege of Vicksburg, losing a number of men in that dreadful undertaking.

They then went after the rebel General Joseph Johnson, whom they besieged in Jackson, Miss., and drove out. Col. Judy, who went out as commander resigned at that place was succeeded by Col. John F. King.

In the latter part of the year the regiment was ordered to Oak Ridge, Miss., and was engaged in numerous skirmishes with rebel guerrillas. The following winter the regiment did more scouting duty and engaged the enemy at Wyatt, Miss., enabling the union cavalry under Gen. W. S. Smith to cross the Tallahatchie river above at New Albany. More scouting was done and June first the regiment went under Gen. Sturgis and engaged the rebels under Forrest and Lee at Guntown, Miss. The fight was terrible and many died or fell from exhaustion on account of the great heat. After a fight of five or six hours the union forces were defeated and the 114th acted as rear-guard, assisting in holding the rebels back during the first night's retreat.

Out of 397 men the regiment lost 295 killed, wounded and missing. July 13th the regiment participated in the fight at Harrisville, Miss., and were complimented by the brigade commander for bravery. The fight lasted two or three days and the rebels were repulsed and suffered heavy loss while the 114th lost forty men wounded and killed.

Mr. Price was taken prisoner and languished for months in that prison hell, Andersonville, and was released more dead than alive and it was only his good constitution that pulled him thru. He was with the Dickens boys there and remembers them and others well.

He was mustered out Aug. 5th, 1865, lacking ten days of serving three years and seeing hard fighting and service and well performing his duty.

Some years ago he retired from his farm and now enjoys one of the finest residences in Virginia. He is yet in comparatively good health and is likely to remain for some years before answering the final roll call and discharge from the battle of life.

CRAP GAME RAIDED.

Sunday evening Night Captain LaBonteaux and Officers Jordan and Deatherage made a raid on a crap game at the corner of Pine street and the Wabash railroad and captured eight players. The place, so it is said, is conducted by R. E. Laadeth. The room that was raided has been fixed up in the barn and boys from the Second ward congregated there and drank and shot craps. Chief Davis has had complaints about the place and when the raid was made Sunday evening the police were compelled to go in thru a window. The place is known among the boys as the "Red Hen," and has gained a bad reputation.

In the raid Sunday evening, in addition to the capture of eight boys, the police captured a large number of dice. Nearly all of them were crooked dice, which shows that the youngsters are learning things early in life. Among the boys who were arrested was one who a short time ago was picked up for taking articles from automobiles standing in the streets. A number of the other boys come from good families in the Second ward. Chief Davis is withholding their names at the present time subject to good behavior. If the boys show an inclination to be good they will have no trouble, but if they persist in their wayward course they will meet up with misfortune.

AUCTION OF RAIR

LETTERS AND BOOKS
New York, Nov. 22.—Many letters of historical importance will be auctioned today, when the eighth part of the Adrian M. Joline library will be offered. In a letter from Benedict Arnold to Gen. Nathaniel Greene, the former declares his character "has been most cruelly and unjustly aspersed." A letter from Andrew Jackson to William H. Jackson vindicates the Tennessee soldiers from the charge that they were responsible for depredations on the Indians. Thomas Jefferson, in a letter to James Madison, speaks of the treaty with Great Britain and expresses his views on the navigation of the St. Lawrence and Mississippi rivers.

E. J. Reid of the northwest part of the county was a city visitor yesterday.

Some Topics of the Farm

ON THE JOYCE FARM

Martin Joyce residing some 3 miles southwest of the city, is one of the successful farmers of the county and his ideas and opinions are offered on some important subjects.

He is a firm believer in maintaining the fertility of the soil and hardly ever raises more than two crops of corn in succession on the same field. He regards that enough for the welfare of the farm and the grain also. This year he has fifty acres and chooses the Ried Yellow Dent and also finds it well to bring seed from a point a little farther north and goes to a place in Iowa for it. This year his corn bids fair to yield 75 bushels to the acre tho he has broken his general rule and is raising the third crop on the field without a change but he says the field had been a pasture for a good while and was quite strong when he broke it up.

He is very particular regarding the preparation of the land and says a thoroughly prepared seed bed is all important. He plows, discs, harrows and discs again and then rolls the field and by that time he has the weeds well subdued and the ground ready for the seed. He cultivates deep the first or second time and shallow after that so as not to disturb the roots of the corn. He had a part of his crop cut so as to put it into wheat as that part of the field rolls a little and this year it washed some so he means to turn it back into grass.

Mr. Joyce had a wheat crop last year sowed on corn stubble and it yielded forty bushels to the acre. His crop this year is good but it was badly lodged and he has it in stacks and has not thrashed yet but thinks it will yield 35 bushels to the acre. He uses smooth head winter variety. He likes the Turkey Red but men object to the beards and so he uses the smooth. Mr. Joyce believes stacking pays best for then a man is independent and while he is not as insistent as some, still he regards it as the best way to save a crop of small grain.

His experience with alfalfa has been such that he may almost be said to be in love with it and said he had a good mind to sow forty acres more of it. Certainly his experience has been remarkable. He had a ten acre field of black land and gently sloping south. This he disc'd four times and prepared in the most thorough manner. Then he put on it a ton and three fourths of crushed limestone to the acre and sought along the sides of the road for ground where sweet clover had grown and took up a lot of the dirt and inoculated his field.

After he put on the crushed limestone he disc'd the field again and had it in fine shape for the seed. This he bought in Iowa and used twenty pounds to the acre sowing it September, 1914. The season was so wet he had good luck in saving the crop which he had four. The third crop he sold for twenty dollars an acre and the other three he kept and regards the yield of that field worth at least $75.00 an acre. He would plant another good sized field but for the fact the saving of it comes partly at a time when corn must be cultivated. He would have disc'd the ground again sowing the seed but it was too wet.

He never sells any corn from his farm but manages to feed it all and keep the fertility on the land. For hogs he prefers the reliable Poland Chins and takes great care in the selection of a boar so as to avoid inbreeding and to get a good type of animal. He is well aware of the fact that the Poland Chins have been bred too fine and small boned, and that he endeavors to avoid. He much prefers individual breeding houses to long pens with partitions as with the small house the animals may be taken to any part of the farm. Then when the hogs are kept in pens with a large shed or building the pigs are in danger of getting mixed and in the wrong pen and getting into trouble.

He tries to improve his stock each year and does it. He gets his hogs ready for market when they are about a year old and has them weigh from 250 to 390 pounds each. He once sold a bunch to the Jacksonville Packing Co. and they were so fat they couldn't climb the inclined plane and had to be killed on the ground. He doesn't believe in vaccination and thinks it does no good. He uses lots of slop, bran, shorts and oil meal mixed and believes in a mixed or balanced ration. In that manner he secures the best results. He also gives his hogs some ashes and coppers which tends to keep them healthy.

He likes to feed cattle tho there is hardly as much in it as was formerly the case. He sticks to the reliable Short Horns as the best for the farm. They are gentle and not given to nervousness. He once tried two loads of black Polls but they were so nervous and wild that they didn't do well. The Short Horns are quiet and tame and put on flesh without trouble. He feeds broken corn in boxes and adds oil meal with clover hay and suitable roughness and has hogs to follow the cattle.

Farm Made to Pay.

A significant instance of what proper methods of farm management can accomplish is afforded in central Michigan. For 10 years this farm failed to pay interest on the capital invested, says a bulletin of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. One year after the owners had been induced to make radical changes the farm paid all the expenses of operation and returned 5 per cent on an investment of $60,000. The changes which accomplished this financial revolution were as follows:

1. Four-horse machinery was substituted for 2-horse.
2. The unprofitable cows in the dairy herd were weeded out and sold and the money received for them invested in better stock.
3. A silo was built.
4. The foreman was allowed, in addition to his salary, 10 per cent of the net income from the farm. The expenses of operating the farm, but not the interest on the capital, were deducted from the income before the foreman received his percentage.

It was this last suggestion which met with the most opposition from the owners of the farm, but when it was pointed out to them that for every dollar the foreman got under such an arrangement they would get $9 they yielded.

Second Crop of Oats.

R. S. Crank, of Loraine township, near Quincy, has had the novel experience of harvesting two crops of oats in one season from one sowing.

When the regular time for harvesting oats came last summer the ground was so wet that he mowed his oats. It was so ripe that much of it scattered out and in due time the field was once more a green sea of growing oats.

This second crop matured and on the 21st of last month he drove into the field with his binder and harvested the second crop, which he will not thresh, but which he estimates has yielded about fifty bushels; but one of his neighbors thinks the yield would be at least a hundred bushels if threshed.

Of course the volunteer crop did not cover the ground as evenly as the one when the seed was sown, but in some places the shocks were quite thick.

L. O. Berryman of this city had some singular experiences with cattle that seemed to show some peculiarities if not perversities. He had a bunch of feeders on blue grass with plenty of corn. In the field was an old stack of oats straw and into this the cattle dug and delved until they managed to eat a great lot of it along with their grass and corn. He had a field of clover one half of which he cut and put into shock a bit green hoping it would cure sufficiently to be stacked but a soaking rain came and drenched the crop thoroughly. The rest of the field was cut and saved and as the first part seemed ruined Mr. Berryman hauled it out and scattered it over the ground. He was feeding his cattle a lot of best alfalfa but they seemed to prefer the spoiled clover and kept on going to it till it pretty well disappeared.

RETURNS TO CITY.

Walter T. Brown of Murrayville was among the arrivals in the city yesterday. The gentleman arrived home from California where he spent some eleven months at Santa Anna, thirty five miles south of Los Angeles. He likes some things about the golden state but as a whole sensibly prefers Illinois for a home.

PURCHASE TICKETS

AT GRANITE CITY.

How St. Louis Patrons of Wabash Get Around Statute.

The Interstate Commerce Commission and traffic laws fixed by the state of Illinois were blamed by railroad men for the alleged discrimination against St. Louis in favor of Chicago in railroad freight and passenger rates to points in Illinois, in the I. C. C. hearing. J. D. McNamara of the Wabash was among the officials who testified and who brought out the significant trend of passenger travel on the Decatur division of his road when he testified that at Granite City the sale of tickets to Chicago has increased 879 per cent since it became generally known that passenger schedules within the state will allow travel at 2 cents per mile while interstate travel may be charged for at 2 1-2 cents. Thus St. Louisians or other travelers coming from outside of Illinois buy across the state line and then rebuy, consequently saving considerable amount on their tickets. In East St. Louis, Ill., the increase of Chicago ticket sales has been 170 per cent since the public "wised up" to this opportunity while Granite City ticket sales in Chicago increased 561 per cent and East St. Louis sales 222 per cent.

The discrimination against St. Louis they said, was caused by the difference in rates allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission for interstate traffic and those fixed by laws of Illinois for interstate traffic the one half cent per mile increase allowed recently by the commission having been suspended by the Illinois Public Utilities body.

Between this city and St. Louis on the Alton, many now buy to East St. Louis, making quite a saving in fare.

THE BIBLE AND CIVILIZATION.

Sunday evening Rev. R. O. Post, D. D., delivered a forceful sermon in the Congregational church on the Bible as a force in civilization. He gave a vivid picture of the nations that have risen, flourished and died, and the end of all was due to lack of the principles of the holy book. Go where the Bible prevails and there you will find civilization, arts, science, education, prosperity and woman occupying her true sphere. See the places where it is not and there you will find darkness, ignorance, superstition, misery and want to an alarming degree.

Even aside from the hereafter, the Bible and its teachings are the best investment a nation can make. The Bible is the advance agent of civilization; it opens the way for trade and profitable commerce; it teaches the ignorant heathen to be civilized, to use modern methods, and makes him eventually a customer.

LITERBERRY.

Otto Nikel of Concord called at Sunshine Cottage Tuesday; he and his father, F. C. Nicks, have been putting acetylene lights in a bath room at Wayside Farm.

Word came to Mrs. C. A. Beavers Saturday of the death of her sister, Helen, at her home in Beverly, Miss. Sykes was quite well known in Literberry, having been a nurse here at one time.

Miss Annabel Crum of Hill Crest is visiting at Springfield, and will go to Mowqua for Thanksgiving.

Everything is prepared, the chickens in the coop, the big pumpkin cooked and made into jelly, the flour sifted ready for the pies (the kind mother made), the mince meat seasoned, the cysters ordered, the cranberries stewing, the white aprons

Better Cake and Biscuits

In all receipts calling for baking powder, use Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder. Better and finer food will be the result, and you will safeguard it against a possible dangerous compound.

Look out for adulterated baking powders. Do not permit them to come into your house under any consideration. They may add an injurious substance to your food, destroying in part its digestibility. Doctors will tell you this and it is unquestionable.

Housewives are sometimes led to use inferior baking powders because of deceptive foaming or boiling tests or apparent lower cost, but there is very little difference in practical use, about one cent for a whole cake or pan of biscuits—a mere trifle when you consider the vast difference in healthfulness in favor of food made with starched and ironed, in fact we are ready; look out for a founder. Now about the bazaar sale, we could not near tell you all the pretty and useful articles prepared, and they will be marked way down, so that anyone can get a bargain with their eyes shut.

Our people are looking forward to a jolly Christmas for the little ones, and our efficient superintendent, J. E. Underbrink, appointed the following general committee on ways and means, Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. John Daniels, Mrs. J. A. Litter, Mrs. M. O. Petefish, Miss Stella Scribner, Mrs. Earl Underbrink, and Miss Mildred Underbrink. This is a strong committee and a good program is promised and a splendid Christmas holiday.

TO REPAIR THE MOTOR CARS.

Some time since the C. P. & St. L. road made experiment of motor cars, hoping for a saving in the cost of operation but the cars were not a success. They were hardly reliable and would occasionally decline to go and were abandoned. W. P. Davis, an expert of Erie, Pennsylvania, is now at the car shops putting one of them in order and it is to be sent to Muscatine, Iowa, for use on an interurban line where its days will doubtless be materially prolonged.

Yes; S. S. S. Is Purely Vegetable Nature's Safe Blood Treatment

Known for 50 Years As the Best Remedy for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases.

Scientists have discovered that the forest and the field, are abundantly supplied with vegetation of various kinds, that furnish the ingredients for making a remedy, for practically every ill and ailment of mankind. Medicines made from roots, herbs, and barks which Nature has placed at the disposal of man, are better than strong mineral mixtures and concoctions. Mineral medicines work dangerously on the delicate parts of the system, especially the stomach and bowels, by eating out the lining membrane, producing chronic dyspepsia and often entirely ruining the health.

S. S. S. is guaranteed to be a purely vegetable remedy. It is made entirely of gentle-acting, healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks, possessing properties that build up all parts of the system, in addition to removing all impurities and poisons from the blood. S. S. S. is a safe treatment for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and all disorders of the blood. It cleanses the entire system and it's permanent. Get S. S. S. at any drug store. S. S. S. is a standard remedy recognized everywhere as the greatest blood purifier ever discovered. ## WHITMER A PIONEER IN LOCAL BASEBALL

BECAME MANAGER OF JACKSONVILLE BLUES IN 1885

Brought First Winning Team To City, Many of its Members Afterward Going Up in the Baseball World.

The death of Edward Whitmer in Chicago Friday recalled to many old residents his connection with baseball in the earlier days of the city. In 1885 Mr. Whitmer became manager of one of Jacksonville's Blues. That name had become associated with Jacksonville baseball teams from the days of Johnny Glover, Dean Simpson, Norman Broadwell, the Rowe brothers and others who were famous in those days.

After the Rowe boys had gone to professional baseball Jacksonville still continued to have a good amateur team. In the year of 1885 the team was organized and was composed wholly of local talent. Among some of the players were Walter Gruber, Jimmy Smith, Joe Smith, George Vickery, Frank Rogers and others.

At that time Winchester had a good ball team. There was great rivalry between Winchester and Jacksonville. Winchester had a team composed of Thorpe and Batist. They were just a little bit too much for Jacksonville. Litchfield also had a team of which a little fellow named Tommy Henri was the catcher. This team also had for a member, a first baseman named Hulse. Up at Decatur they also had a good ball team and Harry Staley, who afterward won fame as a big league pitcher, was its mainstay.

Soon after taking the management of the Blues, Mr. Whitmer realized that the team composed of local talent could not cope with the three teams mentioned. In those days, as it was when we had a league team, and as it has been from time immemorial, the fans wanted to see the home team win. Mr. Whitmer's first move was to get Ed Fellis and Mike Drissell from the old Peach Pies in St. Louis for a battery. Along with them he brought Gus Sheringhausen who was commonly known as "Gook." Also was Jack Reinegal. He played at short and Sheringhausen played at second base.

After getting this bunch, "Whit" began cleaning up. But in the draw he got a fellow named Decker. Decker was a great ball player and afterward went to the old Chicago White Sox under Anson. However, Decker proved a crook and after selling the local management a set of uniforms he jumped town and landed in Decatur. Ed Whitmer was a good loser and let it go at that.

Jacksonville had a game with Decatur. Decker and nerve enough to come back with the Decatur team and caught Staley. In the meantime Manager Whitmer in order not to take any chances and to play the game safe had added to his team, Pat Tebeau, Jack O'Connor, Jack Fogarty, and Charlie King. This left only one local man on the team, Walter Gruber who played first base.

Fans who saw the game with Decatur will never forget it. Decker was a heavy hitter. The bunch that had been gathered played for him and the result was that he did not get a ball out of the infield.

After this game came others. Jacksonville won all of them. Then came the climax of Manager Whitmer's career as a baseball magnate. He booked the famous Buffalo team of the National league. This team had the famous "Big Four," Brouthers, Richardson, Rowe and White. Jack Rowe had started his career in Jacksonville. When the day of the game arrived the old park, which stood just north of the Illinois School for the Deaf, was packed to the gates. Buffalo started off in the game as tho it was a joke. They put in Jim Lilly, an out fielder, to pitch. Those who saw the game will never forget their surprise. Along in the fourth inning Jacksonville was in front and they put in Hardy Richardson who could do almost anything on a ball field. The final score was 8 to 4 but Buffalo did not loaf a minute during the game.

Many of that team afterward went up in the baseball world. The following year O'Connor, Tebeau and King went to St. Joe in the Western league. Mike Drissell and Fellis were signed by Buffalo but did not report. Fellis was blacklisted but some way Drissell got by and afterward played with Von Ahle's famous St. Louis Browns and made good. He died in St. Louis a short time ago. Prior to his death he was connected for many years with the St. Louis Police Department.

Jack O'Connor was drafted by Cincinnati after a year with St. Joe and sat on the bench waiting for a chance for two years. Pat Tebeau went up to the White Sox and played with Omaha and then landed with Cleveland. He got O'Connor from Cincinnati and this pair with Jesse Burkett, McKean, Cy Young, Bobby Wallace and others made the Cleveland Spiders famous and played the famous Baltimore Orioles for the Temple cup in a world's series. Jack O'Connor gained the name, and it was deserved, as the smartest catcher who ever wore a mask.

Charlie King went to the St. Louis Browns and pitched in a world's series against Detroit. He was one of the greatest pitchers the game has ever known and his career began in Jacksonville. He is now a prosperous contractor in St. Louis.

Edward Whitmer's Blues of 1885 were the beginning of a grand old baseball that finally led up to Jacksonville's first league teams. In 1891 Charlie Gale brought Heinie Piez, Henry Doms, Eddie Herr, Joe Swacina and other players here and they played on the Goltra pasture in what is now south Jacksonville. The following year Jacksonville had its first league team. This was followed by a league team in 1894, under Con Strouthers and the following year with Bobby Carruthers as managers. Then came our later baseball experience in the Kitty and old Iowa and later the Central Association. Just now it looks like we are ready for another whirl at the league game.

OMAHA HAS PERFECT MAN BUT HE IS TOLD TO LEAVE

Omaha, Neb. Nov. 22.—Look out, girls, the perfect man is in town! He not only admits it, but offers to prove the statement. He is O. L. Wildene of San Francisco, who appeared before Chief of Detectives Maloney.

"Captain," quoth Wildene, "I'm in love."

"You're in the wrong department, Oscar," replied the captain. "See Hans Neisen; he's the humane officer."

"No, captain. I want a detective to find my affinity," explained Oscar. "I'm what is known as a perfect man, and have been forced to leave every town in which I stopped because the women chased me so."

"I came to Omaha a few days ago, and while passing the Courthouse I looked into the eyes of a girl, poorly clad, but beautiful; and that moment I met my fate. I don't know who she is, but I want you to find her. Do so, and I will buy you the best nickel cigar in town."

Maloney, stirred to action by the promise of the reward, led Oscar to the outer air. Young man, you're perfect all right," he said. "In fact, you're the most perfect specimen of a soft-shell walnut I ever saw. I think you'd better leave this burg or the women here will pursue and beat your brains out with a feather."

Oscar heaved a sigh, tossed his head in a haughty manner, and, looking at his wrist watch, set out alone in search of his affinity.

STRONG DESIRE FOR FAIR.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 22.—"To the strong the fair," commented Judge Moran in granting a divorce to Duke R. Lee, a strong man in a circus, from Elizabeth Lee, a bareback rider.

Lee testified he was married in New York in 1911. Shortly afterward, he said, his wife became acquainted with Lee Sampson, who, he admitted, was stronger than he and was, in fact, second to none but the Biblical Sampson.

"As soon as she discovered that Sampson was stronger than I she left me for him," said Lee. "She is still with him."

J. W. Woodall of Winchester was calling on Jacksonville merchants yesterday.

U. S. GATHERS SAMPLES OF FOREIGN GOODS

New York, Nov. 22.—Within the next week there will be opened in the United States custom house here a commercial sample room by means of which it will be possible for American manufacturers and exporters to obtain full information about the foreign goods that they must compete with. The United States attaches in all countries competing with American foreign trade are sending samples and information concerning goods that Americans are especially interested in.

What will interest manufacturers, exporters and business men outside of New York, however, is the arrangement completed by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce with chambers of commerce in various large centers throughout the country, which provides for a “round robin” display of all samples by these organizations.

The samples will come continuously from the government agents abroad and will cover a wide range of goods. The first display will show hardware samples gathered from many of the important foreign markets, and this will be followed by some other line of goods.

Heretofore each American manufacturer has had to gather his information on his own resources.

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

WHEAT RALLIES IN THE LAST
HALF HOUR OF TRADING

Falling Off in Canadian Visible Supply Gives Strength to Market—Corn Sways With Wheat.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Altho depressed most of the time today wheat rallied in the last half hour, influenced by a falling off in the Canadian visible supply. The market closed strong at 1/4¢ to 3/4¢ net added with December at $1.04 and May at $1.06. Corn finished a shade off to 1/4¢ up, oats virtually unchanged and provisions varying from 10¢ decline to a gain of 40¢.

Reports that a blockade of Greece was in operation and that a Scandinavian steamship line to the United States had been compelled to abandon all traffic were effective early against the wheat bulls and so too were enlarged receipts northwest and southwest with a prospect of continued fine weather. On the other hand, the huge increase of the United States visible supply total appeared to have been fully discounted in advance. Corn swayed with wheat.

Oats held within narrow limits. Houses that usually act for the seaboard were at times good buyers of the December delivery. Most of the options in the provision market scored a decided advantage.

DOMESTIC POLITICS CAUSES
RESTRICTION IN TRADING

Some Discussion Is Indulged In Concerning the Main Points of the President's Forthcoming Message to Congress.

New York, Nov. 22.—Dealings in stocks today marked the low ebb of any regular session for several months. Sales amounted to only 422,000 shares, one third of the total turn occurring in the first hour.

Domestic politics was a factor in the sense that some discussion was indulged in concerning the main points of the president's forthcoming message to congress, more especially the question of national defense. Wall Street expressed the belief, however, that no legislation inimical to legitimate business would be proposed. Foreign affairs also entered into speculative calculations. Greece's attitude toward the allies was again the source of much conjecture. London sold very moderate on the British metropolis was virtually of our securities but exchange on the British metropolis was virtually unchanged.

Metal shares afforded the chief diversion of the day, that group manifesting further strength on the 20th quotation for copper. Petroleum companies advancing prices of crude and refined oils. United States Steel was sluggish and Bethlehem Steel was not quoted at all.

Rails were backward thruout with sudden weakness in New Haven toward the close, the stock falling 3/4 to 77.

Final prices were irregular to heavy. Baltimore & Ohio for October reported a net gain of $1,202,000 and Lehigh Valley increased its net by $116,000.

THE CANDY CORNER.

MAPLE SUGAR FUDGE.—Crush fine a pound of maple sugar, pour over it a pint of hot milk, adding a pinch of soda. Let the sugar melt slowly over the fire, then bring to a fast boil. When the sirup will thread from tip of the spoon, stir in a tablespoonful of butter. When it reaches boiling point again, pour into buttered pans and cut into squares as it hardens.

Cocoa Fudge.—Two cupsful of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of butter, two-thirds of a cupful of milk, five tablespoonfuls of cocoa, a pinch of salt, half a teaspoonful of vanilla. Put the sugar and milk over the fire until it boils, add butter and allow to boil until it becomes a ball if put in water. Take from fire, add vanilla and beat until it snaps. Put on buttered platter.

Chocolate Caramels.—Half a cupful of butter, three-quarters of a cupful of grated chocolate, half a cupful of molasses, half a cupful of milk or cream, a pound of brown sugar. Mix all well together and then boil till it hardens on a spoon or when dropped in cold water. Be sure not to stir while cooking and don't cook fast enough to burn. Flavor with vanilla.

Candied Nuts.—Boil equal parts of water and sugar to the crack. To test, dip in a clean steel knitting needle, pull it out, and if, when the sirup which clings to the needle is cool, if cracks the sirup is ready. Blanch any kind of nut meats by covering with boiling water and rubbing off the skins and dip into the sirup. If they are not thoroughly coated dip again, and a third time if necessary. Dry on sheets of waxed paper.

Nut Candy.—Measure three cupfuls of sugar, a cupful each of vinegar and water and the juice of a lemon. Stir and boil until it cracks; then pour it over a shallow dish covered with broken nut meats.

What "Garbler" Once Meant.

"Garble," "garbled," "garbler," are words which nowadays convey quite a different meaning from that which was formerly accepted. "Garble" originally signified simply "to select for a purpose." At one time there was an officer, termed "the garbler of spears," whose duty it was to visit the shops and examine the spears, ordering the destruction of all impure goods. His duties were similar to those of the inspector of the modern health department, who forbids the sale of decayed vegetables or tainted meat. The word comes from a root meaning "to sift." The imprudences sifted out have in the course of generations corrupted the term till a "garbled report" is no longer a report wherefrom all uncertainty has been removed, but one that is full of misrepresentation and made misleading with deliberate intent.

Outlawry in Scotland.

The unusual sentence of outlawry recently pronounced by the Scottish courts is a relic of the days before extradition existed. For it was the usual punishment of those who wilfully avoided the execution of legal process and was inflicted upon the criminal who fled the country and could not be brought back. In the old days to be outlawed—in the case of women they called it waived—meant that one could be knocked on the head by any passerby, and outlaws in fact were said to be caught in a bag; that is, they had a wolf's head and could be treated as a wild beast.—London Mail.

Witches and Fairies.

Belief in witchcraft, still an article of the popular creed in Essex and may be elsewhere in England, is not the only survival of the kind. In the south of Ireland are still to be found people who believe in fairies. The writer knew an Irishwoman, one of thousands of her class, who would not travel a country road after dark for fear of them, though what "they" would do deponent sayeth not.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Literary.

"Oh, I simply adore Meredith and Browning and Henry James," said the gushing young person. "So do I," said Little Binks. "They are perfectly delightful. It's like sending your mind to a gymnasium. Er—do you read them in the original?"—Buffalo News.

SHAVING THE PIG.

An Incident That Chief Justice Chase Wanted to Forget.

Salmon P. Chase, governor of Ohio, senator of the United States, secretary of the United States treasury and chief justice of the supreme court of the United States, once had an encounter with a pig that is worth telling.

When a boy he attended a private boarding school kept by his uncle, the Episcopal bishop of Ohio. He did the chores for his uncle during the school term and worked on the farm during the summer. One day his uncle told his nephew that he should kill and dress a pig at the close of the school that day.

With no little difficulty the boy caught the pig and killed it. And now the question was how to get the bristles off. He had heard of farmers scalding hogs, so he scalded the pig into a barrel of hot water. He either held the pig in the water too long, or did not have it hot enough, for in spite of all his scraping the bristles would not come off. He then thought of his uncle's razors, and getting them he shaved the pig from nose to tail.

When the bishop returned he congratulated his nephew on the splendid appearance of the pork. But when he tried to shave the next day he discovered that the razors would not "work." What he said and did we may imagine, but we do not know.

Chief Justice Chase was a very dignified man. His private secretary, Mr. Diller, says that he had little humor in his composition. President Lincoln once related the foregoing story at a meeting of the cabinet, but Mr. Chase did not like it very well, and the president never referred to it again.

SWAMPED WITH PROFITS.

Story of the Patent on the Screw With the Gimlet Point.

Perhaps the shortest patent application extant is the one on file in the patent office at Washington, which reads, "I claim a patent on a screw with a gimlet point."

Previous to that all screws used in woodwork had been of the blunt end variety, and the carpenter had to carefully bore a hole with a gimlet or auger before inserting his screw, and forcing it home. The advent of the screw with a gimlet point which would bore itself in revolutionized this.

This patent was held by the American Screw company of Providence, R. I., and before the patent ran out and it was impossible for others to manufacture it without damage suits this company made tremendous profits. The demand for the gimlet pointed screw was, of course, immense, and the company did not know what to do with its profits.

All of its dray horses were carefully selected blacks, and tremendous prices were paid for good stock. The harness was of patent leather trimmed with red, while the wagons plying back and forth between the factory and the docks or the railroad had red undergear to match the harness trimmings, and the wheels were decorated with gold leaf, 14 carat fine. But this is all past. Today the pointed screw can be purchased at any corner store for a few cents a package.—Wall Street Journal.

In the life of a man there is but one love. The trouble is that he usually can't tell which one it is.—Smart Set.

MILLIONAIRE WEBS
STENOGRAPHER WHO CAPTIVATED HIM

As Preliminary He Paid to Have Girl Well Educated.

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 22.—From stenographer to the wife of a millionaire banker is the story being told here today of Mrs. George Woodruff, who, with her husband, the president of the Illinois Bankers' association, is now on her honeymoon in South America.

Woodruff is president of the First National bank of Joliet and one day, three years ago, wishing to dictate a letter while his regular stenographer was absent, borrowed a stenographer from one of the offices in the bank building. The stenographer was Miss Louise Lentz, who is now Mrs. Woodruff. Woodruff noticed many qualities in the competent stenographer and decided that it was a mere accident of fortune that put her into an office instead of the smartest of drawing rooms. Tactfully Woodruff went to work. Miss Lentz was sent to one of the best finishing schools in New York, she became a protegee of one of the wealthiest women of social position in New York, and Woodruff paid the bills. Miss Lentz then went to Chicago, studied art and music, and Mr. Woodruff was a frequent visitor. Six weeks ago their engagement was announced and the wedding was one of the social events of the year.

GIRLS! HAVE WAVY,
THICK, GLOSSY HAIR
FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Save Your Hair! Double its Beauty in a Few Moments—Try This

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?—Adv.

WORK OF A VOLCANO.

Result of an Eruption in Alaska Fourteen Centuries Ago.

Every traveler on the upper Yukon river has noted a conspicuous white bed, four to six inches in thickness, that occurs on the river banks. This is made up of volcanic ash derived from a volcano located in the northern margin of the St. Elias range, more than 100 miles to the south. Though geologically speaking, the material is of recent age, yet it was probably erupted 1,400 years ago.

There are, of course, no historical records of this eruption, but in the course of explorations in Alaska much has been learned about the distribution and thickness of the material ejected. It originally covered an area of over 140,000 square miles, and some of it was carried over 450 miles from the volcano.

The deposit varies in thickness from 300 feet near the volcano to an inch or two at the margin of the area covered by it. A rough estimate indicates that over ten cubic miles of material was ejected at the time of this eruption. During the eruption of Katmai volcano in southwestern Alaska in June, 1912 about five cubic miles of ash was ejected, and about the same amount fell from the Katmai eruption of 1883. This Yukon eruption is therefore comparable in intensity with some of the larger eruptions of historical time.—Geological Survey Reports.

THE OLD CLIPPER SHIP.

Now Almost Vanished, She Was Once Queen of the Seas.

In memory of the ship W. P. Frye, John Gould Fletcher writes in the New Republic a eulogy on "clipper ships," now almost vanished from the seas.

"Sometimes the lookout on a great steamer wallowing and thrashing through the heavy seas by night sees far off on his lee quarter something like a lofty swinging light. Beautiful as a tiered cloud, a ghostly clipper ship emerges from the surges that keep running away before day on the low Pacific shore. Its upper works are kindled by the sun into shafts of rosy flame. Swimming like a duck, steering like a fish, easy, yet dry, lively, yet stiff, she lifts cloud on cloud of crowded, stainless sail. She creeps abeam within hail, she skips, she chases, she outpaces like a mettlesome racer the lumbering teakettle that keeps her company. Before she fades into the weather quarter she looks out cries: 'Holy jiggers! Are you the Flying Dutchman, that you go two knots to our one?' Hoarsely comes back this answer from the sail: 'Challenge is our name, American our nation, Bully Waterman our master. We can beat creation!'

"And its way, Rio: 'Way-hay-hay, Rio. Oh, fare you well, my pretty young girl! For we're bound to the Rio Grande.'"

Old Man of the Mountain.

The title "Old Man of the Mountain" was first applied to Hassan Ben Sabhal, who founded a formidable dynasty in Syria A. D. 1000. He was the prince or chief of a sect of the Mohammedans. Having been banished from his country, he took up his abode in Mount Lebanon and gathered round him a band of followers, who soon became the terror alike of Christians, Jews and Turks. They paid the most implicit obedience to his commands and believed that if they sacrificed their lives for his sake they would be rewarded with the highest joys of paradise. For 200 years these "assassins," as they called themselves, continued to be the terror of the country. Whenever their chief, the "Old Man of the Mountain," considered himself injured he dispatched some of his assassins secretly to murder the aggressor. This is the origin of our use of the word assassin for a secret murderer.

The Hungarian Crown.

The Hungarian crown worn at their accession by the emperors of Austria as kings of Hungary is the identical one made for Stephen and used at his coronation over 800 years ago. The whole is of pure gold, except the settings, and weighs almost exactly fourteen pounds. The settings alone alluded to consist of fifty-three sapphires, fifty rubies, one emerald and 338 pearls. It will be noticed that there are no diamonds among these precious adornments. This is accounted for by the oft quoted story of Stephen's aversion to such gems because he considered them "unlucky."

A False Alarm.

"I know something, I do, about a member of this family," said little Bobby Silthurs triumphantly to his older sister, Maud.

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Miss Silthurs, "Half a dollar is all I have, Bobby. Will you promise not to tell if I give you that?"

"Sure, I will," answered Bobby in surprise. "But it ain't nothin' on you, sis. It was the cook and the iceman."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

SWISS DIVORCE CASES.

The Court Always Tries to Settle Them by Reconciliation.

In one important respect the Swiss surpass other nations in the management of their divorce cases, says an English correspondent.

In every town there is a kind of official paper known as the Feuille d'avis, in which one may read daily the following announcements:

"M. and Mme. X., who are in instance of divorce, are requested to appear privately before the judge, alone or with their lawyers, in order to come to a reconciliation if possible."

Before the beginning of every divorce case in Switzerland this notice is published and sent out to the interested parties, leaving the couple, of course, free to attend before the judge or not, as they wish. Often the couple meet.

Although there are no statistics published on the subject, I am told by a leading lawyer in Geneva whose specialty is divorce cases that at least 30 per cent of divorce cases—"much to my loss, unfortunately," the lawyer added, with a smile—are settled by the paternal advice of the judge at these meetings out of court.

In fact, Swiss lawyers will not definitely take up a divorce case until it has passed through the reconciliation process.

If one of the couple does not attend the rendezvous this means that the affair is to be fought out, but in any case Swiss divorces are not expensive.—San Francisco Chronicle.

EARLY CLUBS IN AMERICA.

The First One Was Founded in Philadelphia in 1717.

The two earliest clubs in America, according to Colonel Henry Waterson in his "History of Manhattan Club," were the Fish House club of Philadelphia, founded in 1717, and the Hoboken Turn Club of New York, which was started in 1797. Then came the Sons of Liberty and the Sons of St. Tammany, which originated in the brain of one William Mooney, an upholsterer of 23 Nassau street.

The Sons of St. Tammany, Colonel Waterson finds, were so called after an Indian chief in derision of England's patron, St. George, and one of their main objects was not, as some have supposed in the case of the Tammany organization, to put good Democrats into every job that paid anything, but "to arouse anti-British feeling and to disseminate knowledge concerning the principles of true political liberty."

The Sons of St. Tammany, later the Society of St. Tammany, was opposed to all trends of aristocracy, and it counted as its natural enemy the Society of the Cincinnati, whose membership was originally designed to pass down by inheritance.

The first club of New York founded on the lines of the London social institutions was the Union, in 1830.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE

(By the Associated Press)

London, Nov. 22.—More than hundred instances of individual bravery in the fighting at Loos and Hulluch six weeks ago, are recounted in brief official notes appended to the latest list of awards of the military cross and Distinguished Service Order. The ten most striking stories are as follows:

Captain Dennis, Scottish Borderers, was wounded in the trenches, but after his wound was bandaged he escaped from the ambulance and went back to his men, advancing with his company until again wounded. He was carried back to a dressing station, from which he disappeared after his wound was dressed. Later he was seen catching up with his company and again cheering them on until he was wounded a third time.

Major Gordon, London Artillery, got close up to the German lines to reconnoitre, and altho under heavy fire, brought back twelve German captives after having shot one man with his revolver.

Lieut. Carr, London Infantry, noticed while directing the removal of grenades from the divisional "dump" that the fuse of a bomb had become ignited. He at once picked it up and carried it out of the dugout. It exploded just as it left his hand, seriously wounding him. His coolness saved and explosion of many thousands of grenades and bombs, which would have killed scores of men and destroyed the entire divisional bomb stores during the heavy operations.

Capt. Bird, London Field Ambulance, on one occasion worked for 63 hours without cessation in tending and dressing the wounded. He was twice observed carrying wounded on a stretcher under rifle fire, and for 55 hours was continually exposing himself to heavy shell fire.

Lieut. Williams, of the "Buffs," took charge of a small party of bombers and attacked the enemy, throwing 2,000 bombs in seventeen hours. It was raining all the time, and the damp fuses had to be lit from cigarettes. Lieut. Williams was wounded early in the fighting but refused to leave his post.

Lieut. Holloway, Royal Artillery, laid a telephone wire thru the Hohenzollern Redoubt under heavy fire. One leg was disabled before he had gone ten yards, but he dragged himself on, the same leg being again fractured by a bullet before he had finished his task. When two telephonists endeavored to carry him to safety, he insisted that they leave him and tend the wire.

Lieut. Pusch, London Infantry, led a party of bombers during the advance thru Loos. Going alone into a house he captured seven Germans, altho shot in the face by one of them. Notwithstanding his wound he continued clearing the enemy out of the cellars of the town.

Capt. Williams, Welsh Guards, was in command of a squad of machine guns. After having a wound dressed he went back to his place and continued to direct the work until midnight, altho the nature of his work compelled him to lie flat on his back all the time.

Lieut. Wood, Gordon Highlanders, took 275 prisoners in Loos, marched them back under heavy fire with a small escort, and returned with much needed ammunition for the men in the firing line. Being by this time the only officer left in his company, he rallied it on the slope of Hill 70 and held his new position with great bravery and resource.

Captain Kearsley, Walsh Fusiliers, altho severely wounded early in the fighting, continued at the front of his men and maintained his position until he had been hit seven times.

Geneva, Nov.—Owing to the continued rise in the cost of living the Swiss government decided to resume the payment of regular increases in salary to government employees, which was suspended at the beginning of the war. The payment of suspended increases alone will involve an expenditure of two million francs ($400,000).

A SINGULAR COINCIDENCE.

A prominent merchant in the city had an account with a customer who also had an account against him. The merchant's ledger showed the customer to be indebted for a list of articles which filled a column all the way from top to bottom and extended over a period of a year when he carried forward the amount and told his customer they better have a settlement. The merchant's ledger showed a total of $71.95 and the bill brought in against him exactly equalled the amount and neither knew what the other had till bills were produced.

A PUMPKIN PIE RECIPE.

A successful cook offers the following as a valuable recipe for making pumpkin pies. Cut the pumpkin into blocks of a small size and run thru the meat grinder used in almost every kitchen. It will make the pumpkin ready for the pies in the best possible shape. Of course, milk, sugar, eggs and the like should be added.

MALLORY BROTHERS ROBBED.

Mallory Brothers' store on South Main street was entered by burglars some time Sunday evening. It is thought that the robbery occurred early in the evening. The thieves obtained about $10 in Buffalo nickels. So far as can be ascertained, nothing else was taken.

TRY "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS IF SICK OR BILIOUS

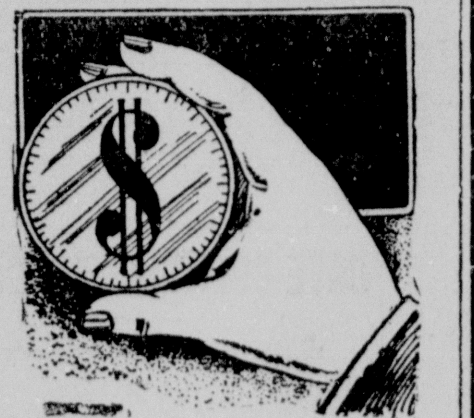

Tonight! Clean your bowels and stop headache, colds, sour stomach.

Get a 10-cent box now. Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and bad colds—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels, or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.—Adv.

SO THE CAFE KEPT ON.

New York, Nov. 22.—As a train stopped at a little Ohio station the passengers heard the plaintive bawling of a calf, which was being wheeled along the platform in a crate. "There's some one complaining, conductor," said a traveler, looking for a bit of fun.

"Not to me," answered the mild old ticket taker. "Never heard of a passenger's complaint with that much sense."

WORK OF A VOLCANO.

Result of an Eruption in Alaska Fourteen Centuries Ago.

Every traveler on the upper Yukon river has noted a conspicuous white bed, four to six inches in thickness, that occurs on the river banks. This is made up of volcanic ash derived from a volcano located in the northern margin of the St. Elias range, more than 100 miles to the south. Though geologically speaking, the material is of recent age, yet it was probably erupted 1,400 years ago.

There are, of course, no historical records of this eruption, but in the course of explorations in Alaska much has been learned about the distribution and thickness of the material ejected. It originally covered an area of over 140,000 square miles, and some of it was carried over 450 miles from the volcano.

The deposit varies in thickness from 300 feet near the volcano to an inch or two at the margin of the area covered by it. A rough estimate indicates that over ten cubic miles of material was ejected at the time of this eruption. During the eruption of Katmai volcano in southwestern Alaska in June, 1912 about five cubic miles of ash was ejected, and about the same amount fell from the Katmai eruption of 1883. This Yukon eruption is therefore comparable in intensity with some of the larger eruptions of historical time.—Geological Survey Reports.

THE OLD CLIPPER SHIP.

Now Almost Vanished, She Was Once Queen of the Seas.

In memory of the ship W. P. Frye, John Gould Fletcher writes in the New Republic a eulogy on "clipper ships," now almost vanished from the seas.

"Sometimes the lookout on a great steamer wallowing and thrashing through the heavy seas by night sees far off on his lee quarter something like a lofty swinging light. Beautiful as a tiered cloud, a ghostly clipper ship emerges from the surges that keep running away before day on the low Pacific shore. Its upper works are kindled by the sun into shafts of rosy flame. Swimming like a duck, steering like a fish, easy, yet dry, lively, yet stiff, she lifts cloud on cloud of crowded, stainless sail. She creeps abroad within hail, she skips, she chases, she outpaces like a mettlesome racer the lumbering teakettle that keeps her company. Before she fades into the weather quarter the lookout cries: 'Holy jiggers! Are you the Flying Dutchman, that you go two knots to our one?' Hoarsely comes back this answer from the sail: 'Challenge is our name, America our nation, Bully Waterman our master. We can beat creation!'

"And its 'way, Rio; 'Way—hay—hay, Rio. Oh, fare you well, my pretty young girl! For we're bound to the Rio Grande."

Old Man of the Mountain.
The title "Old Man of the Mountain" was first applied to Hassan Ben Sabhal, who founded a formidable dynasty in Syria A. D. 1000. He was the prince or chief of a sect of the Mohammedans. Having been banished from his country, he took up his abode in Mount Lebanon and gathered round him a band of followers, who soon became the terror alike of Christians, Jews and Turks. They paid the most implicit obedience to his commands and believed that if they sacrificed their lives for his sake they would be rewarded with the highest joys of paradise. For 200 years these "assassins," as they called themselves, continued to be the terror of the country. Whenever their chief, the "Old Man of the Mountain," considered himself injured he dispatched some of his assassins secretly to murder the aggressor. This is the origin of our use of the word assassin for a secret murderer.

The Hungarian Crown.
The Hungarian crown worn at their accession by the emperors of Austria as kings of Hungary is the identical one made for Stephen and used at his coronation over 800 years ago. The whole is of pure gold, except the settings, and weighs almost exactly fourteen pounds. The settings above alluded to consist of fifty-three sapphires, fifty rubies, one emerald and 338 pearls. It will be noticed that there are no diamonds among these precious adornments. This is accounted for by the oft quoted story of Stephen's aversion to such gems because he considered them "unlucky."

A False Alarm.
"I know something, I do, about a member of this family," said little Bobby Silthers triumphantly to his older sister, Maud.

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Miss Silthers. "Half a dollar is all I have, Bobby. Will you promise not to tell if I give you that?"

"Sure, I will," answered Bobby in surprise. "But it ain't nothin' on you, sis. It was the cook and the iceman." —Birmingham Age-Herald.

What She Learned.

SWISS DIVORCE CASES.

The Court Always Tries to Settle Them by Reconciliation.

In one important respect the Swiss surpass other nations in the management of their divorce cases, says an English correspondent.

In every town there is a kind of official paper known as the Feuille d'avis in which one may read daily the following announcements:

"M. and Mme. X., who are in instance of divorce, are requested to appear privately before the judge, alone or with their lawyers, in order to come to a reconciliation if possible."

Before the beginning of every divorce case in Switzerland this notice is published and sent out to the interested parties, leaving the couple, of course, free to attend before the judge or not, as they wish. Often the couple meet.

Although there are no statistics published on the subject, I am told by a leading lawyer in Geneva whose specialty is divorce cases that at least 30 per cent of divorce cases—"much to my loss, unfortunately," the lawyer added, with a smile—are settled by the paternal advice of the judge at these meetings out of court.

In fact, Swiss lawyers will not definitely take up a divorce case until it has passed through the reconciliation process.

If one of the couple does not attend the rendezvous this means that the affair is to be fought out, but in any case Swiss divorces are not expensive.—San Francisco Chronicle.

EARLY CLUBS IN AMERICA.

The First One Was Founded In Philadelphia In 1717.

The two earliest clubs in America, according to Colonel Henry Waterson in his "History of Manhattan Club," were the Fish House club of Philadelphia, founded in 1717, and the Hoboken Turtle club of New York, which was started in 1797. Then came the Sons of Liberty and the Sons of St. Tammany, which originated in the brain of one William Mooney, an upholsterer of 23 Nassau street.

The Sons of St. Tammany, Colonel Waterson finds, were so called after an Indian chief in derision of England's patron, St. George, and one of their main objects was not, as some have supposed in the case of the Tammany organization, to put good Democrats into every job that paid anything, but "to arouse anti-British feeling and to disseminate knowledge concerning the principles of true political liberty."

The Sons of St. Tammany, later the Society of St. Tammany, was opposed to all trends of aristocracy, and it counted as its natural enemy the Society of the Cincinnati, whose membership was originally designed to pass down by inheritance.

The first club of New York founded on the lines of the London social institutions was the Union, in 1836.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE (By the Associated Press)

London, Nov. 22.—More than hundred instances of individual bravery in the fighting at Loos and Hulluch six weeks ago, are recounted in brief official notes appended to the latest list of awards of the military cross and Distinguished Service Order. The ten most striking stories are as follows:

Captain Dennis, Scottish Borderers, was wounded in the trenches, but after his wound was bandaged he escaped from the ambulance and went back to his men, advancing with his company until again wounded. He was carried back to a dressing station, from which he disappeared after his wound was dressed. Later he was seen catching up with his company and again cheering them on until he was wounded a third time.

Major Gordon, London Artillery, got close up to the German lines to reconnoitre, and altho under heavy fire, brought back twelve German captives after having shot one man with his revolver.

Lieut. Carr, London Infantry, noticed while directing the removal of grenades from the divisional "dump" that the fuse of a bomb had become ignited. He at once picked it up and carried it out of the dugout. It exploded just as it left his hand, seriously wounding him. His coolness saved and explosion of many thousands and grenades and bombs, which would have killed scores of men and destroyed the entire divisional bomb reserves during the heavy operations.

Capt. Bird, London Field Ambulance, on one occasion worked for 23 hours without cessation in tending and dressing the wounded. He was twice observed carrying wounded on a stretcher under rifle fire, and for 55 hours was continually exposing himself to heavy shell fire.

Lieut. Williams, of the "Buffs," took charge of a small party of bombers and attacked the enemy, throwing 2,000 bombs in seventeen hours. It was raining all the time, and the damp fuses had to be lit from cigarettes. Lieut. Williams was wounded early in the fighting but refused to leave his post.

Lieut. Hollway, Royal Artillery, laid a telephone wire thru the Hohenzollern Redoubt under heavy fire. One leg was disabled before he had gone ten yards, but he dragged himself on, the same leg being again fractured by a bullet before he had finished his task. When two telephonists endeavored to carry him to safety, he insisted that they leave him and tend the wire.

Lieut. Push, London Infantry, led a party of bombers during the advance thru Loos. Going alone into a house he captured seven Germans, altho shot in the face by one of them. Notwithstanding his wound he continued clearing the enemy out of the cellars of the town.

Capt. Williams, Welsh Guards, was in command of a squad of machine guns. After having a wound dressed he went back to his place and continued to direct the work until midnight, altho the nature of his work compelled him to lie flat on his back all the time.

Lieut. Wood, Gordon Highlanders, took 275 prisoners in Loos, marched them back under heavy fire with a small escort, and returned with much needed ammunition for the men in the firing line. Being by this time the only officer left in his company, he rallied it on the slope of Hill 70 and held his new position with great bravery and resource.

Captain Kearsley, Walsh Fusiliers, altho severely wounded early in the fighting, continued at the front of his men and maintained his position until he had been hit seven times.

Geneva, Nov.—Owing to the continued rise in the cost of living the Swiss government decided to resume the payment of regular increases in salary to government employees, which was suspended at the beginning of the war. The payment of suspended increases alone will involve an expenditure of two million francs ($400,000).

A SINGULAR COINCIDENCE.

A prominent merchant in the city had an account with a customer who also had an account against him. The merchant's ledger showed the customer to be indebted for a list of articles which filled a column all the way from top to bottom and extended over a period of a year when he carried forward the amount and told his customer they better have a settlement. The merchant's ledger showed a total of $71.95 and the bill brought in against him exactly equalled the amount and neither knew what the other had till bills were produced.

A successful cook offers the following as a valuable recipe for making pumpkin pies. Cut the pumpkin into blocks of a small size and run thru the meat grinder used in almost every kitchen. It will make the pumpkin ready for the pies in the best possible shape. Of course, milk, sugar, eggs and the like should be added.

"Not to me," answered the mild old ticket taker. "Never heard of a passenger's complaint with that much sense."

HONOR MEMORY OF BOOKER. T. WASHINGTON

JACKSONVILLE CIVIC LEAGUE
HOLDS SERVICES SUNDAY.

Impressive Addresses Heard on Life and Work of Great Leader of the Colored Race in David Prince
School Building.

The memory of the late Booker T. Washington was most fittingly honored at the mass meeting at the David Prince building auditorium under the auspices of the Jacksonville Civic League Sunday afternoon in the presence of an audience that occupied nearly every seat in the place. Dr. A. H. Kennelbrew, president of the league presided and an interesting program followed. The music, which was excellent, was in charge of Capt. Freeman, with Miss Margaret DeWitte pianist. There was a large chorus made up from the different colored churches in the city and the singing was fine.

The stage was suitably decorated with flowers and house plants and Dr. Washington's portrait draped with wreath and evergreen was conspicuous.

After a piano solo, "Abide With Me," was first sung and then Rev. Mr. Hancock, pastor of the Second Christian church read a portion of scripture and Rev. Mr. Herman, pastor of McCabe M. E. church, offered prayer. The choir of the Second Baptist church then finely rendered an anthem, "Hear Us, Oh Father," and then Dr. Kennelbrew said the gathering was to pay honor to the memory of one of the greatest men America had ever produced. Not alone was that audience in mourning but the whole nation was grief stricken. It would not be wise to give up but all should press on with renewed vigor and determination. Booker Washington had lived that the world might be better. Mrs. Mazie Mallory then sang beautifully a solo, "Only Remember," by What I Have Done." and then Mayor H. J. Rodgers was introduced. Of his address and all the others only a very few main thoughts are given.

Mayor Rodgers' Address.
Life is a mystery which no one is able to solve. The African was first brought to this land a slave. His descendants were set free and left in a chaotic condition but gradually changes have come for the better. Great leaders like Booker Washington have been raised up. He began in the most humble condition and by industry, energy, perseverance and integrity achieved a great success. He set an example all his race should follow. He gave his life for his people and his name will long be remembered.

A memorial oration was then delivered by Rev. H. H. DeWitte, pastor of the Second Baptist church. In eloquent terms the reverend gentleman told of the heroic struggles of the departed man, of his indomitable will overcoming obstacles of every kind; of the inestimable benefit he had been to his people; the grand example he had set and the good he had done. The effort was a fine tribute to the man so many love to honor at this time.

The choir then sang a plantation melody, "When Death Shall Set Me Free," after which Prof. J. H. Rayhill told of meeting Dr. Washington on a train and in conversation remarked that the purchase of colored voters at the north was to be deplored and urged the eminent gentleman to try to lessen the evil and in reply Dr. Washington aptly suggested that it would be in order to lessen the purchasing activity. He first saw the school at Tuskegee when it comprised but a few poor buildings. He gave a recitation once before a colored audience in the south and they gave him $2.45, which he valued more than some fees many times larger than that.

S. W. Nichols spoke of the Anti-slavery pioneers of earlier days. Mentioning Wendell Phillips, William Lloyd Garrison; local heroes, Henry Irving, Dr. M. M. L. Reed, Ebenezer Carter, Rev. William A. Kirby, Benjamin Henderson, Joseph O. Kier, Richard Yates, T. W. Melendy, W. C. Carter, David Spencer and others.

Mrs. L. L. Kennelbrew, a teacher at Tuskegee for eight years, told in a fine paper her personal experience with Dr. Washington dwelling on his many noble traits of character. In his family, the school and among the teachers, his rare devotion to duty, his wonderful example and great ability as a leader and his many lovable traits of character, his pride in the achievements of his race, his love for the plantation melodies and many other characteristics. Harvard conferred on him the title of Doctor of Philosophy and he declined a lucrative appointment offered him by President McKinley.

Rev. N. J. McCracken, pastor of Bethel A. M. E. church said we come here to deposit a flower on the newly made grave that holds all that is mortal of a great man. The speaker told of the abject poverty of Dr. Washington's childhood, not having an acknowledged father but a good mother, of his tremendous struggle for an education, how he slept under a walk at Richmond, walked 500 miles to reach the school at Hampton and of his final triumph.

Rev. Mr. Mackey said that measured by right standards Dr. Washington was truly a great man; great as an educator, as a leader, in accomplishing good for his race and uplifting the lowly and teaching them to help themselves.

Foremost of His Race.
Dr. Scruggs, pastor of Mt. Emory Baptist church, said that as a citizen Dr. Washington was foremost in his race. Today the world befittingly places a laurel leaf on his grave. Tho so fearfully circumscribed by circumstances he rose to greatness and blazed the way for his people to learn the practical side of life. Of the 20,000 students at Tuskegee only six have been convicted of crime.

A quartet composed of Shelly, Nichols, Carl Spencer, Thomas Herman and Roy Ross most beautifully sang a melody, "Steal Away to Jesus." It was one of the most pleasing numbers on the program.

President Rammelkamp of Illinois college said that 23 years ago when a student in college he attended Y. M. C. A. meeting and listened to an address by Dr. Washington. He had not heard of the gentleman before and was wonderfully pleased as it was the best speech he had heard for years. He was impressed by an editorial in the New York Nation which said that Dr. Washington interpreted each race to the other. He stood for the principle that every man should do his work honestly and efficiently.

Dr. Morey, dean of the ministerial association of Jacksonville, said Dr. Washington, was in the foremost rank of America's great men. He won both north and south in his great speech at Atlanta and instilled courage in the hearts of his people. The speaker said when a young man before the war, he was a teacher in the family of the owner of a thousand slaves in Mississippi. He went out to the quarters one Sunday and read the bible to the slaves, but the master preternaturally ordered him to stop. A boy, Jim, was handed over to him as incorrigible. He taught him to read and write and found him very smart. He was permitted to hire the boy out and keep the money but he gave it to the lad. Fifteen years ago he visited in Nova Scotia a settlement of enterprising Africans who had been escaped slaves. A man addressed him by name and he was surprised to meet his former pupil, Jim, who had forced his master's name to a pass, had made his way to freedom and was the owner of 200 acres of land and a bank account and had an interesting family. He was sending money south right along to help the race. When in that southern family the boy had been put with him as a son and told him of it and warned him to say nothing sounding like abolitionism as it might cost him his life. Booker Washington had left a name which would be imperishable in the history of America.

Hon. Andrew Russel was introduced as the next Governor. He said that Booker Washington was a true American and though dead his example would be an incentive to his race for nobler and better things. He was one of nature's great noblemen.

Resolution Adopted.
Dr. Kennelbrew then offered the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas—The will of our Heavenly Father has removed from our earthly association and activity the great educator and benefactor, Booker T. Washington.

Whereas—By his life and teachings civilization has advanced and the possibilities of the colored race established; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in bowing in humble submission to the will of our Father, that we feel most keenly the inestimable loss to humanity of the Apostle of education and racial harmony; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this community, and a copy sent to the bereaved family.

Dr. Kennelbrew tendered the thanks to the civic league for the use of the auditorium and to Member Townsend in particular for great interest in arranging the room and furniture for the occasion. His generous contribution would be taken at the door toward a fund for a monument to be erected at Tuskegee to the memory of Dr. Washington.

The choir, whose efforts deserve great praise, sang "My Old Kentucky Home," the audience joining in the chorus. The benediction by Rev. W. E. Spoons ended the program.

WOMEN WEAK, RUN DOWN
Finds Health in a Simple Tonic.

People in Jacksonville will begin to believe us when we say that our delicious Vinol is a wonderful tonic and strength creator.

Here is another case where it has proved its wonderful power to overcome weak, run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions.

"I was run down, nervous, and could not do my work without being entirely exhausted, and would often faint without any apparent cause. The doctor said I was anaemic but failed to help me. My husband brought home a bottle of Vinol and I began to improve after taking one bottle, and after taking four bottles it has built me up so I can do all my housework without help. I recommended Vinol to a neighbor, who says her doctor approves of it and said 'Vinol is a wonderfully good tonic.'" Mrs. Bessie Hering, West Philadelphia, Pa.

We recommend Vinol to our customers as the greatest strength creator we know—due to the extractive medicinal elements of fresh cod livers without oil combined with peptonate of iron and beef peptone, all dissolved in a pure medicinal wine.

Cape of Good Hope.

The Cape of Good Hope lies at a considerable distance from the end of South Africa and is, in fact, the middle of the three promontories, severally inconspicuous, which jointly terminate a slender peninsula some twenty miles in length forming the barrier between False bay and the Atlantic ocean on the west. These three headlands, lying near together and commonly undivided on a map of moderate scale, are locally designated Cape Point. It was here that Bartholomew Diaz first encountered in full force the prevalent southerly gales and denounced the rugged, threatening, threefold promontory under the sounding appellation of the Cape of Storms, to be afterward rechristened by pious, trustful hearts the Cape of Good Hope.

Pairing in Legislatures.

The custom of pairing in the house of commons originated in Cromwell's time. "Pair off" is the phrase used to signify that two members of a legislative body of opposite political opinions agree to absent themselves from voting for a certain period. By "pairing" in this way they neutralize each other's absence. The whips of the house generally manage to find "pairs" when, for any reason, members desire to be absent temporarily.

An Odd Epitaph.

The following epitaph is to be found in a cemetery within seven miles of New York's city hall:
Reader, pass on; don't waste your time. O'er bad biography and bitter time. For what I am this crumbling clay insures. And what I was is no affair of yours.

What a Toad Enjoys.

There are few things more amusing than to watch a toad submitting to the operations of a back scratcher. He will at first look somewhat suspiciously at the twig which you are advancing toward him, but after two or three passes down his back his manner undergoes a marked change, his eyes close with an expression of infinite rapture, he plants his feet wider apart, and his body swells out to nearly double its ordinary size, as if to obtain by these means more room for enjoyment. Thus he will remain until you make some sudden movement which startles him or until he has had as much petting as he wants, when, with a puff of grateful delight, he will reduce himself to his usual dimensions and hop away, bent once more on the pleasures of the chase.

Fish in Former Times.

Men of former ages, unless they lived near the sea or a river, had great difficulties in gratifying their taste for fish. The great houses had their fish ponds or stews, but sea fish, such as cod, bream, sturgeon, herring and sprats, were salted, and the excessive consumption of highly salted fish in the middle ages is said to have produced leprosy. Fish was also baked in pies to enable it to be carried for great distances.

WANTS PRISONERS TO WORK ON STREETS

CIVIC LEAGUE BRINGS MATTER BEFORE CITY COUNCIL.

Subject Causes Interesting Discussion Among Members—Cider Will be Tabooed for Three Months of Year—Ordinance Passed Becomes Law.

Cider will be tabooed in Jacksonville except for three months in the year as soon as an ordinance which was introduced in the city council Monday is formally passed and becomes a law. The purpose of the measure is not to prevent the making and selling of sweet cider but of the other variety, which gets so hard that it properly belongs in the list of intoxicating liquors. At the council session the question of arranging for the use of the prisoners in the county jail on the city streets was discussed at some length as a result of a visit from a committee representing the Jacksonville Civic League.

Employment of Jail Inmate. In behalf of the committee Mrs. J. H. Danskin and Mrs. Agnew spoke. They said that the civic league had determined to bring the matter of employing jail inmates in some way to the attention of the authorities and that their visit to the council session was in line with that determination. It seems that the league had previously interviewed the county judge, the state's attorney, the sheriff and the county board with reference to the plan and there met with approval. The committee wished to report these facts to the council and to ask their co-operation.

It developed from the discussion that Mr. Cox, who is superintendent of streets, is very much opposed to the use of jail or prison inmate labor on the streets if it in any way interferes with the regular department. He maintains that the few men employed there are entitled to the labor and that very little good work would be done by men serving out fines. Mr. Cox was willing that the plan should be tried if the prisoners were placed in charge of some officer representing the sheriff and the city had no responsibility for the workers. Mayor Rodgers and other members of the council suggested that it would be an excellent idea if the plan was tried for the officer not to keep too strict a watch on the prisoners—that if any escaped and never came back it would be better for the city and the county.

Routine of Council. The usual routine of the council session was carried out and Mr. Widmayer reported for the department of finance that he had arranged with R. A. Gates to audit the city's books for the year ending last May in accordance with the provisions of the law. Mr. Gates will be paid at the rate of $10 a day for the audit. Mr. Widmayer reported also that there are a number of warrants drawn for various firms which have not been called for and that it would assist the finance department in keeping the records straight if these warrants were called for in the near future.

Mr. Cox reported some special work in progress in cleaning the streets in readiness for the winter season. He mentioned too a depression in the pavement on East College street east of Clay avenue. It will be necessary to take up some of the pavement there and to fill in the depression with cinders which will probably serve without concrete during the winter season. Mr. Vasconcellos mentioned that the extensive repairs on the Russell engine are almost completed. The overhauling given this engine will put the power department into very much better condition than has been true for an extended period.

South Main Street Paving. Mayor Rodgers mentioned the progress being made with the South Main street paving. It had been the hope that this work would be completed by Thanksgiving but this is impossible owing to delay in the shipment of some materials. On motion of Mr. Martin, seconded by Mr. Widmayer, consideration of the ordinance providing for disconnecting the 20 acres of land belonging to the Reynolds estate was postponed until the next meeting. Mr. Martin made the suggestion that arrangements be made whereby all city employees will have their warrants December 20 on account of the approaching Christmas season. Without any formal action it was the understanding that this plan will be followed.

Sale of Cider. An ordinance prohibiting the sale of cider except during the months of September, October and November was given a first reading. This ordinance will no doubt be passed at the next session as it was evidently introduced with the knowledge that the council would be in accord in supporting it. It seems that some of the cider which has been on sale in Jacksonville has been found intoxicating and the proposed ordinance was framed with a view to stopping the sale of this liquor. The three months exceptions were made with the belief that after that period cider cannot properly be termed sweet and that no preservative put in it will keep it in good condition.

Discussion of Prison Work. A committee representing the civic league was present, including Mrs. Arthur Vannier, Mrs. George Hollinger, Mrs. J. H. Danskin, Miss Collins, Mrs. H. C. Robinson and Mrs. Agnew. Mrs. Danskin referred to the action taken by the civic league in bringing up the question of having prisoners in the county jail work out their fines on the city streets. She read sections of the law governing this matter and quoted a recent report made by the grand jury recommending that some plan of having the prisoners work out fines be adopted. The speaker declared that there were many reasons in favor of this plan and spoke of it as an economy plan because it would be likely to reduce the number of prisoners in the jail and keep them from "repeating." She said that some of those in the jail are habitually there during the winter season because they have warm quarters, regular meals and no work, and that if it were known that there would be actual labor on the streets as a part of the punishment, that there would be fewer offenses against the law. Mrs. Danskin said, too, that the plan had humanitarian reasons in its support because it was a very bad thing for prisoners to stay in jail month after month with absolutely nothing to do, that the work would be helpful to them physically, mentally and morally and would occupy some of their time, a part of which is now spent in concocting schemes to be carried out after their release.

Mrs. Agnew, who has charge of the prison and jail work in behalf of the W. C. T. U., spoke along the same lines as Mrs. Danskin and said from her observation that the work would be very beneficial to the jail inmates and that the knowledge that work was in prospect would probably result in greatly reducing the number of jail inmates.

Cox Opposed to Plan. Mr. Cox said that he had taken active charge of his department and had a number of faithful workers employed and he was opposed to any plan which would take the work away from these men. The members of the committee said that it was their understanding that there was more work on the streets than the city could afford to have done and that their idea was that the proposed work would not decrease that done by the department but would make it possible for greater amount to be done. Mayor Rodgers saw no objection to the plan if it was the understanding that the city had no responsibility for the prisoners. He called attention to the fact that there are not nearly as many prisoners in the jail who could be worked on the streets as appears from the list of names. A prisoner who is there under bond awaiting trial or one who is there serving out a prison sentence would not be subject to this work. Only those "laying out" fines and costs could be used in this work.

Rev. W. E. Spooner Speaks. Rev. W. E. Spooner made brief remarks in support of the plan, in using his opinion that the prisoners and the public would be greatly benefited if it were carried into effect. He said that earlier in this administration something had been said about working prisoners on the streets and since then he had heard nothing about it. Mr. Vasconcellos said he had talked about the plan some months ago but then the purpose was to use city prisoners on the streets. Mr. Cox mentioned that he had offered to use city prisoners, although he believed that the experience of Mr. Vasconcellos had had when serving as street commissioner indicated that the system really meant an expense to the city and very little labor. The inmates in the city prison are few and it has been found that the expense necessary to employ an officer to guard such prisoners when working on the streets has meant an increased payroll and not much increase in work done.

Plan in Macomb. W. S. Camp was called on to mention the plan followed in McDonough county, and said that in Macomb there had long been working arrangements between the city and county whereby jail prisoners were used upon the streets and the results were very satisfactory. Still other discussion followed, and while no formal motion was made, it was the understanding that the council is willing to designate street work which may be done by county jail prisoners if such prisoners are placed at work under direction of the county and in charge of a deputy sheriff.

Refuse Garbage Can Plan. A representative of the Garbage Can company was presented and asked the permission of the council to place cans in various positions on the streets for waste paper and other refuse. He explained that the cans would be of a strong, slightly type and would be maintained without cost to the city. His plan is to sell advertising space on the cans to merchants and thus defray the expense and make a profit. Mayor Rodgers said that there were too many obstacles on the streets now and that while he was in favor of clean streets, that this project did not appeal to him, especially if the boxes were to have signs painted on them. He mentioned that in a number of instances signs had been attached to the city's boulevard lamp poles and Mr. Widmayer said that he thought the city should require the removal of any such signs. Other members of the council were opposed to the waste boxes if they were to be used as sign boards.

Secretary Weber of the Chamber of Commerce said the introduction of these waste boxes with signs on them would be in direct opposition to the effort the Chamber of Commerce had made to protect the merchants from advertising of a class which proved nothing but an expense. He said that this kind of advertising would permit little other than the presentation of a merchant's name, and that advertising which gave further special facts changed from time to time was the only kind that brought results. He thought permission to install the boxes would be unfair to the merchants and would mar the streets.

It was the understanding that members of the council would later informally discuss the question of purchasing a number of the boxes to be placed about the streets and possibly at Nichols park, the same to be painted but not to have any signs on them. The council then adjourned.

BIG BOX SALE FOR ST. LOUIS SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Capacity House Expected Wednesday Evening on Account of Big Musical Treat.

A line leading from the box office to the sidewalk formed in the Grand Theater yesterday when the sale of tickets to the St. Louis symphony concert Wednesday evening opened. Thruout the day the demand was unprecedented and it is regarded as certain that every available seat in the house would be occupied when Conductor Zach raises his baton.

"It is easily the greatest musical event of the year," said Shirley V. Brooks, who is here to plan for the arrival of the orchestra and the concert will be a lasting delight to the people of Jacksonville.

Conductor Max Zach has prepared and excellent program. The following short synopses of the numbers to be played will serve as a guide and assist those who attend the concert to follow with a better understanding the various compositions as they are rendered:

The prelude to "Lohengrin," by Richard Wagner is built up on the motif (or musical phrase which in the opera represents the Holy Grail, the mysterious symbol of the Christian faith. This motive is developed by various groups of instruments, starting with the strings, very soft, to which are added various groups of instruments in a gradual crescendo, until the climax is reached.

The "Indian" suite, or series of movements, by Edward MacDowell, the great American composer, portrays Indian life and customs. All of the principal themes used by Mr. MacDowell in the various movements are based on old Indian melodies, which he has most skillfully developed.

PASSAVANT HOSPITAL WORKERS GATHER FOR CONFERENCE

Enthusiastic Meeting of Many Interested at the Public Library Last Night—Statistics of Hospital for Past Five Years.

An enthusiastic and well attended meeting of workers in the Passavant hospital campaign was held at the public library building last evening and reports and remarks were heard from several persons.

To show how well the management of Passavant hospital compares with that of hospitals in other places, Mr. Davies cited that of the hospital in Concord, New Hampshire, a city of some 25,000. That institution has large endowments and many gifts from which two sources it received in one year $13,000 and yet was in debt $1,700. He greatly complimented the management of the institution of this place.

Mrs. Miller Welch, head of the ladies' department of workers reported her captains chosen and getting ready for work. Mayor H. J. Rogers made substantially the same report for the men.

It has often been asked where does the money go in Passavant hospital? Replying to this question Dr. Carl E. Black read some statistics taken from the hospital books covering an experience of five years:

Patients treated.....2,820

Nursing days.....45,321

Of these nursing days some 20,000 paid less than cost.

The average daily cost is $2.21 1/2 per patient, or $15.57 1/2 a week.

The average cost per item is as follows; the weekly estimate:

Salaries of superintendent, head nurse, surgical nurse, dietician and the like.....$ 2.26

Nurses.....1.39

Employees: cooks, men and the like.....2.19

Food.....3.99

Medicine and drugs......06

Laundry......4.

Books, telephone, telegrams, and sundries......15

Improvements and repairs.....1.25

Sundries......32

The hospital management would like to do much more charitable work than is possible and hence for new buildings and later an endowment fund which will help accomplish this.

FRANKLIN LIGHT PLANT AND GARAGE DESTROYED SUNDAY

Unknown Blaze Consumes Building and Two Automobiles—Will Rebuild Plant.

A fire of unknown origin which was discovered in the Franklin light plant and garage at 10:15 o'clock Sunday night completely destroyed the building, entailing a loss of some $7,000 or $8,000. Two automobiles, belonging to William Rees and A. L. Burnett, each being valued at $1,000, were also burned. Kenneth Skeens, who has charge of the plant and was supposed to be on duty that evening, was not at his post when the fire broke out, and it was first discovered by neighbors who live in that vicinity. The light plant had only recently been fully equipped and there were three dynamos in it which were worth at least $1,200 apiece. The Waverly Telephone company also lost about $75 worth of telephone cable.

The plant is owned by C. W. Olinger and there was no insurance carried. The building was 60 by 80 feet and the roof and sides were of iron sheeting, but it was made very substantial. The building was built upon a brick foundation about two feet high. When the citizens arrived to fight the fire they first attempted to get one of the cars, and succeeded in getting the front wheels of the machine over this foundation, but they were unable to lift the back part of it over on account of the intense heat.

Friends lent their aid willingly, and a bucket brigade was formed and directed their efforts mostly toward the adjoining building, as it was seen that there was no chance of saving the light plant. The store building which adjoins the garage, was badly scorched by the flames and it looked for a time as tho the building might, too, be destroyed.

The whole town was put in darkness as the result of the blaze and the people had to resort to the old methods of lighting their homes. Mr. Olinger made a statement yesterday that he expected to rebuild in the near future, but he was not yet determined whether he will occupy the same site.
